

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

TO THE PRESENT EDITION.

An intimate and thorough acquaintance with a language is only to be acquired by an attentive study of its literature. Grammars and histories of literature are, at best, but guides, and are not always wholly trustworthy; the statements and principles they contain need verification as well as illustration, and this necessitates a certain amount of familiarity with the literature itself.

In studying the latest periods of the English language there is no lack of materials, and the student has it in his power to correct, by his own reading and observation, any errors of fact that may occur in the text-books he uses.

With the literature of the earlier stages it is far otherwise; the printed editions of old authors are, in many cases, on account of their rarity or price, inaccessible to ordinary readers, who are thus placed completely at the mercy of their guides.

Within the last few years this defect has been in some measure remedied by the Early English Text Society, who have issued many new editions and reprints at a comparatively moderate cost; and it may be as well to state here, that the student may find amongst their publications the complete texts from which the extracts quoted in Sections IX, XII, XIII, XV, and XVI are taken; and amongst the publications of the Philological Society the complete text of Hampole's 'Pricke of Conscience' (Sect. X).

The necessarily scanty extracts which occur, even in the best manuals of English literature, are quite inadequate to convey any clear notion of the dialect, grammar, and vocabulary of the writers of the Early English period, and hence it is that most students find their information upon the subject limited to a list of names of persons, places, and dates, and some few uninteresting details, which, even in these days of competitive examinations, are accepted as a knowledge of English literature.

The aim of the present work is to supplement the ordinary text-books, and furnish students with abundant material for making themselves familiar with the older forms of English, and so enabling them to obtain a sounder knowledge of the language as spoken and written at the present day.

The 'Specimens,' which are chronologically arranged, may be considered as types of the English spoken during the fourteenth century. Not long previously, the language had undergone many changes, owing to the loss of grammatical inflexions and a simplification of syntactical structure, and was entering upon a new phase in its history, in which we may trace a gradual approximation to its modern representative, the English of the present day.

The extracts have been chosen so as, in most cases, to present continuous narratives of considerable length, and they embrace a variety of topics, amongst which may be mentioned Biblical translations, religious teaching, proverbs, history, and romance.

No knowledge of the oldest English (Anglo-Saxon) is required before commencing the following pages, as the Introduction, Notes, and Glossary, contain all that is necessary to enable the student to read the most difficult specimens with pleasure and profit. If the language of the earlier Sections seem to be too unfamiliar to the beginner, the later Sections may be read first.

In preparing a new edition, several modifications and alterations have been made. Four sections at the beginning of the former edition, containing extracts from the English Version of Genesis and Exodus, the Owl and the Nightingale, the Lay of Havelok the Dane, and the Romance of King Alexander, have now been omitted, as belonging to a period earlier than the fourteenth century, and being more suitable for a volume which shall contain Specimens of the language of the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth centuries. The Section containing an extract from 'Sir Gawayn and the Grene Knyght' has been placed by a portion of Barbour's 'Bruce'; and the extracts from the 'Cursor Mundi' and Wyclif's Translation of St. Mark's Gospel have been shortened. The Chaucer section, in the former edition, contained 'The Pardoneres Tale' and 'The Prioresse Tale,' from the Harleian MS. In preparing the present edition, advantage has been taken of the recent publications of the Chaucer Society, to produce a new edition of the first part of 'The Man of Lawes Tale,' in which the various readings have been considered, and the scansion of the lines carefully marked.

The Notes have been carefully revised. Several of the remarks on etymology have been transferred from the Notes to the Glossarial Index for the sake of greater facility of reference; and considerable additions have been made to the Notes themselves.

The Glossarial Index has been entirely rewritten, in order to insert the references to the passages in which the harder words occur. At the same fime, the various parts of the verbs have been exactly described, cross-references have been added to account for variations of spelling, and some hints as to the derivations of the words (partly taken from the Notes to the former edition) have been given, in as concise a form as possible. Wherever a form has been quoted as Anglo-Saxon, Icelandic, Swedish, &c., the spelling of it has been made to agree with that given in the Dictionaries, a list of which is given at p. 347. For this purpose, the use of pocket-dictionaries has often been preferred, with the express object of avoiding the citation of other than sufficiently common words. The result of this labour will, we hope, prove useful, as supplying, within a small compass, a ready means of ascertaining the meanings and modes of use of all such words as are of most common occurrence in the literature of the Fourteenth Century.

INTRODUCTION.

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

§ 1. The Alphabet. The letters employed are the same as those employed now, with two additions, and with some variations in significance. The additional letters are b and 3; the capitals of which are printed p and 3. Both of these are of frequent occurrence in early MSS. The former (b) In our modern pronunciation, we make a signifies th. distinction between the initial sounds of thine and thin, a distinction which in the earliest times possibly did not exist, the th in both cases being sounded soft, as in thine; and it is remarkable that we still preserve this sound in all our oldest and commonest words, such as thou, the, that, there, then, and the like 1. But we often find a distinction made in the fourteenth century. Some scribes used b at the beginning of pe, pat (the, that), and the letters th at the beginning of thin, thicke (thin, thick). In the fifteenth century, this distinction was less regarded, and the symbol þ was gradually disused.

The character 3 has various powers. At the beginning of a word it is to be sounded as y, so that 3 ard is our modern yard; in the middle of a word it had a guttural sound, still represented in our spelling by gh, as in list for light; at the end of a word it either had the same sound, or stood for z. In fact, the character for z was commonly made precisely like it, although sparingly employed; yet we find marchaunts for marchauntz, where the z, by the way, must necessarily have been sounded as s. This use of the character is French, and appears chiefly in French words. In early French MSS. it is very common, and denotes z only.

The characters v and u require particular attention. The latter is freely used to denote both the modern sounds, and the reader must be prepared at any moment to treat it as a consonant. Thus the words have, leve, diverse are to be read have, leve, diverse; where it will be observed that the symbol appears between two vowels. The former is used sparingly (except when written in place of f in Southern MSS.), but sometimes denotes the modern u, chiefly at the beginning of a word. The following are some of the commoner examples of it, and may as well be learnt at once; viz. vce or vse (use), vtter (utter), vp (up), vpon (upon), vs (us), vr or vre (our), vche (each), vuel (for uvel, evil), and the prefixes vm- (around), vn- (un-), vnder- (under-), and vt- (out-). It is common to find, even in well-edited editions of old authors, that the v's and u's are altered so as to suit the modern taste; but a very little attention will overcome the difficulty occasioned by the old usage.

The letter J is very rare. It is generally denoted by a capital I; as in I ape, I eoperatie, I ourney, for j ape, j eopardy, journey. The combination quh is common in Scotch, and answers to the modern English wh and the Anglo-Saxon hw; as in quhy for why, A.S. hwí.

§ 2. Abbreviations. The most usual marks of contraction employed in early books and MSS. are so few that they may soon be learnt. The commonest are these following, their expansions being denoted throughout this volume by the use of italic letters.

A stroke over a vowel signifies m or n; as in  $s\bar{u}$ ,  $h\bar{i}$ ,  $ho\bar{u}d$ , meaning sum, him, hound.

An upward curl, above the line, signifies er; as in  $man^9$ ,  $s^9ue$ , for maner, serue (serve). But if this symbol follows the letter p, it means re; as in  $p^9che$  for preche. It arose from a roughly written e, the letter r being understood.

A small undotted i above the line means ri, the letter r being understood, as before; hence p'nce, c'st, for prince, crist (Christ).

A roughly written  $a(\omega)$  in like manner stands for ra; as in  $g^{\omega}ce$ ,  $p^{\omega}y$ , for grace, pray.

A curl, of a form which arose from a roughly written v (for u) signifies ur; as in ine, ine, for turne, our.

The reason for the upward curl after p being used for re, arose from the fact that there was already a way of writing per, viz. by drawing a stroke through the tail of the p; as in pil, for peril. Sometimes this sign stood for par; as in pil for party.

A similar stroke, but curling, enabled the scribe to abbreviate pro. Thus we have pfite, que, for profite, proue.

At the end of a word, the mark - signifies es or is;

and the mark 9 signifies us; as in word-9 for wordes or wordis, and b9 for bus (thus).

A not very common mark of contraction is  $\Omega$  for com or con; as in  $\Omega$ -fort,  $\Omega$ -seil, comfort, conseil.

Other examples of contraction are q or qd for quod or quod, i. e. quoth;  $p^t$  for pat;  $p^u$  for pou; and  $i\hbar c$ ,  $i\hbar m$ , for iesus, iesum (Jesus, Jesum), where the h came from the Greek H (long e), and the c from the Greek C ( $\Sigma$ , s).

- § 3. Pronunciation. On this subject the student may consult 'Early English Pronunciation,' by A. J. Ellis. There is reason to believe that very considerable changes have taken place since the fourteenth century, and that the vowels were at that time pronounced much more like those which are heard in continental languages, as, e. g. in German, than is the case at present.
- § 4. Punctuation. As no marks of punctuation occur in the early MSS., the editors are responsible for the various stops introduced into the text; and the reader may, if he pleases, disregard or alter them.
- § 5. Metre. The favourite metre in the fourteenth century was that which was made up of riming couplets, each line containing four accents. When perfectly regular, it consisted of eight syllables, as,

Of mouth | of chil | der and | soukand || (Sect. II. Ps. viii. 5);

but the first syllable was often omitted, as in the line immediately following, viz.

Máde | pou lóf | in íl | ka lánd ||

Less regular lines admitted additional unaccented syllables. In this metre are written the poems illustrated in Sections II, V, VII, VIII, X, XVI, and XX. The occasional introduction of shorter lines having only three accents, especially in the third and sixth lines of a stanza, produced a metre which was well suited for lines of a lyrical cast. See Sections III, IV, and XI for examples of this. Not very dissimilar is the metre in Section VI. The long lines in Robert of Gloucester may be compared with the Common Metre in Hymn-books, as explained in the note at p. 283. The scansion of Section XIX has been carefully marked, and some of the less regular lines are pointed out in the In Sections XII, XIII, and XV we have examples of Alliterative Metre, which prevailed in the Western part of England during a long period, and was indeed the only metre used in England previously to the eleventh century. Here no rimes are employed at all, but each line is divisible into two sections, as indicated by the inverted full-stop. In lines of the most regular type, three emphatic syllables occur, two in the former, and one in the latter section, which commence with the same letter; as in & briddes ful brémely on be bowes singe. (XII. 23.)

Here the three first emphatic or loud syllables commence with the letter b, whilst the last loud syllable begins with another letter, viz. s.

Sometimes the number of loud syllables is increased, as in pe sauor of pe swéte sésoun · & sóng of pe briddes (Id. 29), in which three loud syllables commencing with s occur in the first section.

This metre is regulated chiefly by accent and emphasis, the number of syllables being not much regarded <sup>1</sup>.

§ 6. EARLY ENGLISH DIALECTS.

From historical testimony, and an examination of the literary records of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, we learn that the English speech was represented by three principal dialects <sup>2</sup>.

- 1. The Northern dialect, spoken throughout the Lowlands of Scotland, Northumberland, Durham, and nearly the whole of Yorkshire. Roughly speaking, the Humber and Ouse formed the southern boundary of this area, while the Penine Chain determined its limits to the west.
- 2. The Midland dialect, spoken in the counties to the west of the Penine Chain, in the East-Anglian counties, and in the whole of the Midland district. The Thames formed the southern boundary of this region.
- 3. The Southern dialect, spoken in all the counties south of the Thames; in Somersetshire, Gloucestershire, and portions of Herefordshire and Worcestershire.

There is no doubt that the Midland dialect exercised an influence upon the Southern dialect wherever it happened to be geographically connected with it, just as the Northumbrian acted upon the adjacent Midland dialects; and this enables us to understand that admixture of grammatical forms which is to be found in some of our Early English MSS.

§ 7. These dialects 1 are distinguished from each other by the uniform employment of certain grammatical inflexions.

A convenient test is to be found in the inflexion of the plural number, present tense, indicative mood.

The Northern dialect employs -es, the Midland -en, and the Southern -eth, as the inflexion for all persons of the plural present indicative <sup>2</sup>.

	NORTHERN,	MIDLAND.	SOUTHERN.
1st pers.	hop-es <sup>3</sup> ,	hop-en4,	hop-eth,	we hope.
2nd "	hop-es,	hop-en,	hop-eth,	ye hope.
3rd "	hop-es,	hop-en,	hop-eth,	they hope.

The inflexions of the singular number, though no absolute test of dialect, are of value in enabling us to separate the West-Midland from the East-Midland.

The West-Midland conjugated its verb, in the singular number and present tense, almost like the Northern dialect.

W	EST-MIDLAND.	NORTHERN.
ıst pers	s. hope,	hopes <sup>3</sup> .
2nd "	hopes,	hopes.
3rd "	hopes,	hopes.

The West-Midland of Shropshire seems to have employed the Southern inflexion -est and -eth, as well as -es, in the 2nd and 3rd persons singular indicative.

The East-Midland dialect, like the Southern, conjugated its verb in the sing. pres. indic. as follows:—

> 1st pers. hope, and ,, hopest, 3rd " hopeth.

Some of the East-Midland dialects geographically connected with the Northern seem to have occasionally employed the inflexion -es in the 2nd and 3rd pers. as well as -est and -eth. It is mostly found in poetical writers, who used it for the sake of obtaining an extra syllable riming with nouns plur. and adverbs in -es.

The West-Midland is further distinguished from the East-Midland dialect in employing the inflexion -es for -est in the 2nd pers. sing. preterite of regular verbs.

§ 8. The following differences between the Northern and Southern dialects are worth noticing.

zech (sech).

ss; as in esse (to ask).

Use of the compound vowels ea, eo (ie, ue)<sup>2</sup>.

v; as in vel,  $vo^3$ .

- <sup>1</sup> The Kentish dialect substitutes e for u, as ken (kin), bel (hill), pet (pit).
- <sup>2</sup> The Southern dialect of Kent seems to have pronounced ea as yea, as we find east, eald (old), written yeast, yeald.
- 3 The Kentish dialect of the fourteenth century, like the modern provincial dialects of the South of England, has z for s, as zinge, to sing; zay say; zede, said.

OUTLINE OF GRAMMATICAL FORMS.

§ 10. SUBSTANTIVES.

I. Formation of Plural:—

1. The suffix -es (-is, -ys) is for the most part the ordinary plural, especially in the Northern dialects.

-us is a West-Midland variety of -es.

Romance words form their plurals in s (or s).

In the middle of the fourteenth century, words ending in a liquid—mostly words of more than one syllable—take -s as the plural inflexion.

2. In the Northumbrian dialect no plurals in -en (-n) are met with, except eghen, oxen, hosen, shoon, and fan (foes). In the Southern dialect -en is very common side by side with -es.

The suffix -en (-n) represents (1) the oldest English -an (-n), as aschen, ben (bees), chirchen, eyen, sterren, ton (toes), &c.;

- (2) -u, as heveden (heads), tren, sustren, doztren, brethren, &c.;
- (3) -a, as honden, benen, &c.; (4) -y, as ken, kin (=cy', pl. of cu', cow).
- 3. -e sometimes occurs (1) for -en, as myle, mouhe, bene, blosme, &c.; (2) for -u, as brethre, childre, &c.
- 4. For childre, brethre, we find childer and brether in the Northern dialect: dezter = dehtren = dohtru, daughters.
- 5. Plurals formed by vowel change:—men, fet, tep, ges, ky (kie); modern English, men, feet, teeth, geese, cows, &c.
- 6. Some few old neuters are flexionless in the plural, as hors, schep, der, folk, swin, bing, zer (years), hous, pund, &c.

II. Case-endings. The genitive case singular is commonly -es (-is, -ys, -us). Father, brother, moder, daughter are found without the genitive sign, as in the oldest English.

In the Southern dialect (as in Robert of Gloucester) we find many feminine substantives forming the genitive in -e, as 'quene fader,' 'empresse sone,' &c.

The genitive plural is -es (-s), but the old genitive suffix -ene (oldest English -ena) of the n declension is often met with in the Southern dialect, as clerkene, of clerks; kyngene, of kings; childrene, of children.

The dative suffix (singular and plural) is sometimes denoted by a final -e, but for the most part the nominative and dative have the same form.

§ 11. ADJECTIVES.

There are two forms of the adjective, (1) Definite (or Weak), (2) Indefinite (or Strong).

The definite form is denoted by a final e, as 'the gode man.' The plural is also denoted by a final e, as 'gode frendes.' This e is often dropt towards the end of the fourteenth century. In Chaucer it disappears in words of more than one syllable, as 'mortal batailles.'

The vocative case is denoted by the final e, as '3e 3onge men,' 'O stronge God.'

The Norman-French plural -es (-s) is not uncommon, mostly when the adjective follows the noun it qualifies, as 'wateres principales,' 'cosins germains,' &c.

A few instances of the genitive singular in -es occurs in alles, nones, when united to kyn; as alleskynnes = of every kind, noskynnes = of no kind.

In the Northern dialect the genitive-ending is dropped; hence the following forms, nakin, alkin, sumkin, whatkin, &c. This -kyn once belonged to the following noun as suffix, not to the adjective.

The genitive plural suffix -re (= -ra) occurs in (1) alre, aller, alder, alther, genitive plural of al, (2) beire, genitive plural of bo = both.

Comparison. The comparative is formed by adding -ere, -er to the positive. In some writers of the earlier part of the fourteenth century we find -or, -ur for -er.

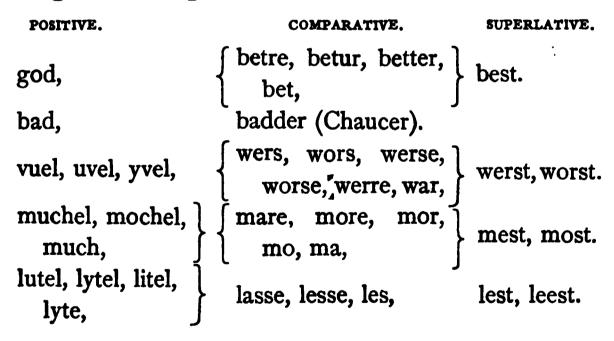

The superlative ends in -este, -est; sometimes in -ost.

Adjectives and adverbs in -lich form their comparative and superlative in -loker (-laker, -luker), though -lyer is more common towards the end of the fourteenth century.

Eldre, lengre, strengre have vowel-change as well as the inflexions of comparison: older, longer, stronger, are also found (as in Chaucer).

Bet, leng, streng, are mostly used adverbially.

Irregular Comparisons:-

Shortened forms of the comparative and superlative are—fer (ferre) = farther; ner (nerre) = nearer; nest, next = nearest; herre, higher; hest, hext = highest.

More and most make their appearance in the formation of comparison, as mest gentyl (Robert of Gloucester), more hy (Robert of Brunne).

§ 12. PRONOUNS.

PERSONAL PRONOUNS.

singular.	PLURAL.
Nom. Ic, ik, ich, uch,	we.
Gen. min (rare),	ure, ur, our.
Dat. Acc. me,	us, ous.
Nom. þu, þou,	ze, ye, yhe.
Gen. pin,	zure, your, yhour, ower.
Dat. } be,	you, yhou, 30w, ow, ou.

Gen.	his,	hire, hir,	his, hit.
Dat.	him,	hire, hir,	him, hit, it.
Acc.	hine, him,	hire, hir; is, hise, his,	hit, it.

PLURAL.

Masc. Fem. and Neut.

Nom. hi, hii, heo, hue; þei, þai.

Gen. here, hare, hire, heore, hor, her, hir.

Dat. hem, ham, hom, heom, huem; paim, pam, peim, pem.

Acc. hi, hem, ham, hom, huem; pam, peim, pem; hise, his, is.

Uch, ich (I), are Southern forms; ich, Midland; ic, ik, Northern. I is used in the Southern dialect before n, as I nere = I ne were, I were not.

Ha (he); his, is (her, them) are peculiar to the Southern dialect.

Sco, scho, pai, paim, pam are Northern forms; sche, pei are Midland varieties.

Ho, hit (gen.) are West-Midland forms.

Hine is only found in the Southern dialect.

The pronouns are often agglutinated to the verbs, as  $Ichot = Ich \ wot$ , I know;  $Icholle = Ich \ wolle$ , I will; nuly = ne + wule + i, I will not, &c.

REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS.

Self is added (1) to the personal pronouns in the nominative—bou self; (2) after the dative, as Ich me self, bou be self, he him self. But the genitive form often replaces the dative, as I mi self, bou bi self, we ure self, &c.

Chaucer uses the lengthened form seluen, as I myseluen.

His self rarely occurs in Old English.

Self when used as a demonstrative = same, very.

ADJECTIVE PRONOUNS.

Min, pin, his, hire (hir), our (ure), zure (yhour, your), her (hir, here, hare, hor), or pair, peir.

Min and pin are mostly shortened to mi and pi. The longer forms remain (1) before vowels and h, (2) when used after a noun, as handes mine, (3) in the plural and oblique cases.

Hise is often used as the plural of his.

In addition to the ordinary possessives we find forms (1) in -s, especially in the Northern dialect; as urs, zoures, pairs, &c.; (2) in -n, as ouren, youren, haren, &c.

DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS.

1. De (Definite Article).—The definite article be is used without inflexion in all cases, singular and plural.

In the Southern dialect we often find pane, pen (acc. sing.).

The plural pa, po is also in use in the fourteenth century; po often signifies those.

The article is often agglutinated to substantives, as popynioun, the opinion; peir, the air.

The ton and the toper, = 'thet on' and 'thet oper,' contain the old neuter (thæt) of the definite article.

2. This.—This is properly a neuter form: the masculine pes, feminine pues (peos), are rarely met with.

The accusative pesne, pisne (perne, Kentish) is sometimes found in the Southern dialect.

This has for its plural thes, these, thuse, thise, this.

3. Compounds of -like (O. E. líc).—(1) ilk, ylk = same; (2) thylke, thulke = the-like, such; (3) swilk, swuch, swich = so-like, such.

INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS.

Masculine and Feminine.

Nom. who, wo, wha, ho, hua, qua.

Gen. whos, wos, quas, huas.

Dat. Acc. whom, wham, wom, quam, huam, wam.

Neuter.

Nom. and Acc. what, wat, huet, quat. Gen. and Dat. like the Masculine.

Wheher, queher = which of two. Whilk, wuch, wich, woch = which.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS.

That is the ordinary relative. The genitive, dative, and accusative of who are used as relatives. The who and the which are common towards the end of the fourteenth century.

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.

- 1. Sum, som = some; plural some, sume, summe, somme. Som ... som = one ... other.
- 2. Ouht, ozt = ought, aught; nouzt, nozt, nouht, naut = nought, naught. Ouht = a wiht; a is a particle denoting any; cf. O. E. d = ever, aye; wiht = creature, thing.
- 3. Man, men, me = one (like Germ. man); as me seith = one saith.
- 4. Wha, who, who-so = one, any one; whaswa, who-so = whosoever; eiber, ayber, ouber, owber, ober = either; neiber, nouber, nober = neither<sup>1</sup>.
- 5. Ech, uch, ich, ilk = each; ever-ilk, everech, everich = every.

§ 13. VERBS.

I. REGULAR, OR WEAK VERBS.

Weak verbs form their preterite tense by adding -ede (-de, -te) to the verb. The passive particle ends in -ed (-d, -t). The final e sometimes drops off in the preterite, leaving the suffix -ed as the tense-sign.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

PRESENT. Sing. Plural. lovieth, loveth; loven, love 2. 1. lovie, love, lovieth, loveth; loven, loves. 2. lovest, loves, lovieth, loveth; loven, love; loves. 3. loveth, loves, PRETERITE. loveden, lovede; loved. 1. lovede, loved, 2. lovedest, loved, loveden, lovede; loved. loveden, lovede; loved. 3. lovede, loved,

Subjunctive Mood.

PRESENT.

Sing. lovie, love.

Plur. lovien, loven, love.

PRETERITE.

Sing. lovede, loved.

Plur. loveden, lovede, loved.

IMPERATIVE MOOD.

Sing. love.

Plur. { lovieth, loveth; loves. love, lovie (followed by the pronoun).

SIMPLE INFINITIVE.

lovien, lovie, loven, love.

GERUNDIAL (OF DATIVE) INFINITIVE.

to loviene, lovie, lovene, loven, love.

PRESENT PARTICIPLE.

lovinde, loving; lovende; lovande, lovand.

PASSIVE PARTICIPLE.

iloved; loved.

The simple infinitive occurs after auxiliary verbs without the preposition to. It may be used as the subject or object of a verb.

The gerundial infinitive is the dative of the simple infinitive, and always has to before it. It is equivalent to Latin supines and gerunds. The gerundial infinitive is used in English where ut with the subjunctive is employed in Latin.

On the Formation of the Preterite of Weak Verbs.

Properly speaking, the preterite is formed only by the suffix -de, e in -ede being the connecting vowel which joins the tense-suffix to the base.

1. In verbs with a long radical vowel this connecting vowel disappears, and -de only is added to the base, as in the following:—

infinitive.	PRETERITE.	PAST PART.
dele,	del-de,	deled, deld.
deme,	dem-de,	dem-d.
lede,	led-de, lad-de,	led, lad, &c.

2. When the base ends in ld, nd, rt, st, ht, tt, &c., then -de or -te represents d-de or t-te, as in the following:—

Infinitive.	PRETERITE.	PLURAL.
bulden,	bulde,	ibuld.
sende,	sende,	isende.
resten,	reste,	irest, &c.

t often replaces d in the fourteenth century, as in—sende, sent(e), sent.

wende, went(e), went.

- (a) The suffix -d is changed to -t after a sharp mute (p, f, ch, ss, t, &c.).
- (b) ch becomes 3(gh) before t.
- (c) nch becomes yn or in (rarely ng) before t.
- (d) The g of ng becomes i or y before d or t.

Examples:—

(a)	kepen,	kepte,	ikept.
	lefen,	lefte,	ileft, &c.
(b)	cacchen,	cau3te,	icau3t.
	techen,	tau3te,	itau3t, &c.
(c)	drenchen,	dreynte,	idreynt, &c.
(d)	mengen.	mevnte.	imevnt. &c.

II. IRREGULAR, OR STRONG VERBS.

1. Strong verbs differ from weak ones in not adding any tense-suffix, the preterite being formed by vowel-change. The passive participle of strong verbs ends in -en (and by loss of n, -e), as

PRES. PRET. PAST PART. holde, heold, held, iholden, iholde.

2. Many verbs have a distinct vowel-change for the preterite plural, identical with the vowel of the passive participle, as pres. pret. sing. pret. plur. past part. binde, band (bond), bunden, ibunden. write, wrat (wrot), writen, iwriten.

The 2nd person singular of these verbs has also this vowelchange, as thou bunde, &c.

3. The 1st and 3rd person of strong verbs have no personal suffixes. That of the 2nd person was originally -e, but -est often replaces it in words of the fourteenth century.

Hence the conjugation of the preterite is as follows:—

SINGULAR.

PLURAL.

- 1. heold, held (I held), heold-en, held-en (we held).
- 2. heolde, helde (thou heldest), heold-en, held-en (ye held).
- 3. heold, held (he held), heold-en, held-en (they held).
- 4. Both strong and weak verbs (when the stem ends in -t, -d, -nd, -s) have in the 3rd person singular present indicative -t for -tep or -dep, as halt = holdep, rit = ridep, sent = sendep, rist = risep.
- 5. The 2nd and 3rd person-endings are often shortened, as lixt = ligest (tellest lies); telp = tellep.

- 6. The present or active participles of all verbs end in (1) -inde, -ing (Southern dialect); (2) -ende, -end (Midland dialect); (3) -ande, -and (Northern dialect, and Midland dialect with Northern tendencies).
- 7. Passive Participles in the Southern and Midland dialects take the prefix i or y, as i-kept, y-ronnen.

All preterites formed by vowel-change, and anomalous forms occurring in the text, will be found in the Glossary.

§ 14. ADVERBS.

I. COMPARISON.

Adverbs are compared by the suffixes -er (positive) and -est (superlative). Bet, leng, streng, ma (mo) are shortened forms of the comparative betre, lengre, strengre, mare (more).

II. ADVERBIAL PREFIXES.

A (before a consonant), an (before a vowel) = on, in; as in anihte (by night), azer (yearly), an-ende (lastly), anon (in one, at once), anunder (under), on-rounde, in-idel (in vain).

Umbe (about); as in umbe-stunde (at intervals), umqwile (whilom, formerly).

Bi, be (by); as in besides, bilife (quickly).

To; as in to-daie, to-gedere, &c.

For; as in forsoope (forsooth).

At; as in at erst (at first), ate or atte laste (lastly), atten ende (lastly); where atte = at pe, atten = at pen.

Occasionally we find a equivalent to the oldest English of, as of buve, above; of newe, newly; adown = of dune, downwards.

III. TERMINATIONS.

- 1. Adverbs that now end in -ly formerly ended in -liche. (The adjectival affix singular is -lich.)
- 2. Adverbs are formed from adjectives by adding a final -e, as soth, sooth, true; sothe, soothe, truly 1.
- 3. Many adverbs are cases of nouns, adjectives, &c., e. g. -es (genitive); alles, altogether, of necessity, needs; azenes, against; amiddes, amidst; amonges, amongst; bisides, besides; deathes, at death, dead; dazes, by day; lives, alive; nedes, of necessity; newes, anew; niztes, by night; togederes, together. Enes, ones, once; neodes, needs; twies, twice; hennes, hence; thries, thrice,—are later forms for en-e, henn-e (hennen, heonan), neod-e, twie (twien, A. S. twiwá), thrie (thrien, A. S. þrýwa). Also -um (dative), as whilom, seldum, &c.
- 4. Other endings are -linge, as allinge, altogether; hedlinge, headlong; grovlinge, on the face, prone; flatlinge, flatly.
- 5. -en (-e), abouten, about; befor-en, befor-n, before; buven, buve, above; binnen, binne, within; with-outen, without.
- -der, motion to; as in hider, thider, whider, hither, thither, whither.
- -en (-e), motion from; hennen, henne, hence; thennen, thenne, thence; whennen, whenne, whenne, which gave rise to the later forms with genitive affix -es, as hennes, thennes, whennes.

Dialectical varieties:-

- 1. The Scandinavian forms hethen, hence; quethen (whethen), whence; thethen, thence; sum, as—are not used in the Southern dialect.
- The loss of the final -e explains the modern use of adjectives for adverbs, as right = right; long = a long (time).

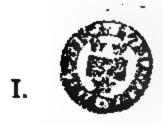

- 2. The Northern dialect prefers the prefix on- (o-) to a-, as on-slepe, asleep; o-bak, aback; on-rounde, around.
- 3. In the West-Midland dialect we find in- as an adverbial prefix, as in-blande, in-lyche, alike; in-mydde, amidst; in-monge, amongst. Chaucer uses in-fere, together.
- 4. The Southern affix -lings becomes -linges (Sc. -lins) in the Northern dialect, as grovelinges, on the face, prone; handlinges, hand to hand; hedlinges, headlong.
- 5. The Northern dialect employs -gate (way) as a suffix, as al-gate, always; how-gate, how-so; there gate, therefore; swa-gate, so-wise, in such a manner.
- 6. In-with, within; ut-with, without; free peculiar to the Northern dialect

METRICAL ENGLISH PSALTER.

BEFORE A.D. 1300.

The following extracts are from the Northumbrian Psalter in the Cotton MS. Vespasian D. vii, which was written about the middle of the reign of Edward II. The language, however, is much earlier, and represents the speech of Yorkshire and the Northumbrian dialect in the latter half of the thirteenth century. This Psalter was published by the Surtees Society in 1843-7, together with an Anglo-Saxon one.

Nothing whatever is known concerning the authorship of this version of the Psalms; but it was evidently made from the Latin Vulgate.

The numbers of the Psalms and verses are the same as in the Vulgate. A later version of Psalms xiv., xxiii., and cii. will be found in Section XVII.

THE PROVERBS OF HENDYNG.

A.D. 1272-1307.

THE following illustrations of English proverbial philosophy in the thirteenth century are taken from MS. Harleian 2253. They are printed in 'Reliquiz Antiquz' (ed. Wright and Halliwell), vol. i. pp. 109-116, and in J. M. Kemble's appendix to 'The Dialogues of Salomon and Saturn' (Ælfric Society), 1848. The dialect is Southern intermixed with some few Midland peculiarities.

ROBERT MANNYNG, OF BRUNNE.

A.D. 1303.

ROBERT MANNYNG, commonly called Robert of Brunne (from his birthplace, Brunne or Bourn in Lincolnshire, seven or eight miles from Market Deeping), was born about A.D. 1260, and died about 1340. In the year A.D. 1303 he translated William of Waddington's 'Le Manuel des Pechiez' into English, under the title of 'Handlyng Synne.'

Between the years 1327 and 1338, Mannyng also translated the French rhyming chronicle of Piers (or Peter) de Langtoft into English verse, at the request of Dan Robert of Malton, prior of the Gilbertine order, of which Mannyng was a canon.

The following tale, from 'Roberd of Brunne's Handlyng Synne,' which was edited for the Roxburghe Club by F. J. Furnivall, M.A. (London, 1862), is here printed from the manuscript.

WILLIAM OF SHOREHAM.

A.D. 1307—1327.

WILLIAM OF SHOREHAM, so called from Shoreham, near Otford (about four miles and a half from Sevenoaks), was originally a monk of the Priory of Leeds, in Kent, but was appointed vicar of Chart-Sutton by Walter, Archbishop of Canterbury, in 1320. He translated the entire Psalter into English prose about the year 1327. His short poem 'De Baptismo' (a copy of which is contained in 'The Religious Poems of William de Shoreham,' edited for the Percy Society by T. Wright, M.A., London 1849) is here copied from the Additional MS. 17,376 in the British Museum. The dialect of course is Southern.

CURSOR MUNDI, OR CURSUR O WERLD.

ABOUT A.D. 1320.

THE 'Cursor Mundi' is a metrical version of Old and New Testament history, interspersed with numerous mediæval legends. It is of great length, and has never yet been printed. It seems to have been a very popular book with our forefathers, and one MS. has the following rubric:—

'This is the best book of all,
The Course of the World men do it call.'

There are several MSS. of this work, but the Cottonian MS. Vespasian A. iii., in the Northumbrian dialect, has furnished the following extracts.

The Visit of the Wise Men, and the Flight into Egypt.

DAN MICHEL OF NORTHGATE.

A.D. 1340.

In the year 1340, Dan Michel of Northgate (Kent), 'a brother of the cloister of St. Austin of Canterbury,' translated into English the French treatise 'Le Somme des Vices et des Vertus' by Frère Lorens (A. D. 1279), under the title of 'The Ayenbite of Inwyt' (Remorse of Conscience). This work is preserved in the Arundel MS. 57, which also contains two short Sermons, probably turned into the Kentish dialect by the same writer.

These Kentish productions are the most valuable specimens which have been preserved of the Southern dialect in the fourteenth century. They were edited for the Early English Text Society by Dr. Morris in 1866, with the title, 'Dan Michel's Ayenbite of Inwyt, or Remorse of Conscience.'

The following Sermon was known in English long before Dan Michel's time. A thirteenth-century version of it, entitled 'Sawles Warde,' is printed in 'Early English Homilies' (ed. Morris, Early English Text Society, 1867), at p. 245.

RICHARD ROLLE DE HAMPOLE.

ABOUT A.D. 1340.

RICHARD ROLLE de Hampole, commonly called Hampole, was (according to some) an Augustine monk of the Priory of Hampole, about four miles from Doncaster; but he seems merely to have lived in that neighbourhood as a hermit. He died in the year A.D. 1349. He was the author of a metrical version of the Psalms, with a Commentary, portions of the Book of Job, and some very excellent prose treatises, as yet inedited. About 1340 he wrote, both in English and Latin, a poem called 'The Pricke of Conscience.' The English version of this poem, in the Northumbrian dialect, has been edited from MSS. in the British Museum, by Dr. Morris, for the Philological Society, London 1863. The following selections are taken from the Cotton MS. Galba E. ix.

The Pricke of Conscience.

[The Wretchedness of Man's Birth.]

[Lines 432—439.]

Alle mans lyfe casten may be,
Principaly, in his partes thre,
Dat er thir to our vndirstandyng,
Bygynnyng, midward, and endyng.
Der thre partes er thre spaces talde
Of he lyf of ilk man, yhung and alde.

435

Bygynnyng of mans lif, þat first es, Contenes mykel wrechednes;

[Lines 464—509.]

And [when man] was born til bis werldys light, He ne had nouther strenthe ne myght, 465 Nouther to ga ne yhit to stand, Ne to crepe with fote ne with hand. pan has a man les myght pan a beste When he es born, and es sene leste; For a best, when it es born, may ga 470 Als-tite aftir, and ryn to and fra; Bot a man has na myght par-to, When he es born, swa to do; For pan may he noght stande ne crepe, Bot ligge and sprawel, and cry & wepe. 475 For vnnethes es a child born fully pat it ne bygynnes to goule and cry; And by pat cry men may knaw pan Whether it be man or weman, For when it es born it cryes swa; 480 If it be man, it says 'a, a,' Pat be first letter es of be nam Of our forme-fader Adam. And if be child a woman be, When it es born, it says 'e, e.' 485 E es be first letter and be hede Of be name of Eue bat bygan our dede. parfor a clerk made on bis manere Dis vers of metre pat es wreten here: Dicentes E uel A quotquot nascuntur ab Eua. 490 'Alle pas,' he says, 'pat comes of Eue, Pat es al men pat here byhoues leue;

535

When pai er born, what-swa pai be,
pai say outher "a, a," or "e, e."'
pus es here pe bygynnyng
Of our lyfe sorow and gretyng,
Til whilk our wrechednes stirres vs,
And parfor Innocent says pus:
Omnes nascimur eiulantes, vt nature nostre miseriam exprimamus.

He says, 'al er we born gretand,
And makand a sorowful sembland,
For to shew be grete wrechednes
Of our kynd bat in vs es.'

Dus when be tyme come of our birthe,
Al made sorow and na mirthe;
Naked we come hider, and bare,
And pure, swa sal we hethen fare.

[Lines 528—555.]

Pus es a man, als we may se,
In wrechednes borne and caytesté,
And for to lise here a son dayse,
530
Parsor Iob pus openly sayse:
Homo natus de muliere, breui uiuens tempore, repletur multis miserijs.

He says, 'Man pat born es of woman,
Lyfand short time, to ful fild es pan
Of many maners of wrechednes.'
Pus says Iob, and swa it es.
Alswa man es borne til noght elles
Bot to trauayle, als Iob yhit telles:
Homo nascitur ad laborem, sicut auis ad uolatum.
He says, 'Man es born to trauaile right
Als a foul es to pe flight.'

For littel rest in pis lyf es,
Bot gret trauayle and bysynes;
Yhit a man es, when he es born,
pe fendes son, & fra God es lorn,
Ay til he thurgh grace may com
Til baptem and til cristendom;
pus may a man his bygynnyng se
Ful of wrechednes and of caytifté.

[The Middle of Man's Life.]

De tother part of be lyf, men calles De mydward, aftir bat it falles, De wilk reches fra be bygynnyng Of mans lyfe vn-til be endyng.

555

[Man is like a Tree.]

[Lines 662—707.]

A man es a tre, pat standes noght hard, Of whilk pe crop es turned donward, And pe rote to-ward pe firmament, Als says pe grete clerk Innocent.

665

Quid est homo, secundum formam, nisi quedam arbor euersa, cuius radices sunt crines; truncus est caput cum collo; stipes est pectus cum aluo, rami sunt ulne cum tibiis; frondes sunt digiti cum articulis; hoc est folium quod a uento rapitur, et stipula [que] a sole siccatur.

He says, 'What es man in shap bot a tre Turned vp bat es doun, als men may se? Of whilk be rotes, bat of it springes, Er be hares bat on be heued hynges; De stok, nest be rot growand, Es be heued with nek folowand;

De body of bat tre barby Es be brest with be bely; pe bughes er be armes with be handes, 680 And be legges, with be fete bat standes; pe braunches men may by skille calle De tas and be fyngers alle; Pis es be leef bat hanges noght faste, pat es blawen away thurgh a wynd-blaste, 685 And be body alswa of be tre, pat thurgh be son may dried be.' A man bat es yhung and light, Be he neuer swa stalworth and wyght, And comly of shap, lufly and fayre, 690 Angers and yuels may hym appayre, And his beuté and his streng[t]h abate, And mak hym in ful wayk state, And chaunge alle [his] fayre colour, Dat son fayles and fades, als dos be flour. 695 For a flour pat semes fayre & bright Thurgh stormes fades, & tynes be myght. Many yuels, angers, and mescheefes, Oft comes til man þat here lyues, Als feuyr, dropsy and Iaunys, 700 Tysyk, goute and other maladys, Pat hym mas streng[t]h & fayrnes tyne, Als grete stormes dose a flour to dwyne; parfor a man may likend be Til a flour bat es fayre to se, 705 pan, son aftir pat it es forth broght, Welkes and dwynes til it be noght.

[Length of Man's Life.]

[Lines 728—829.]

In pe first bygynnyng of pe kynd of man,
Neghen hundreth wynter man lyfed pan,
Als clerkes in bukes bers witnes;
Bot sythen by-com mans lyf les,
And swa wald God at it suld be;

For-whi he sayd bus til Noe:

Non permanebit spiritus meus in homine in eternum, quia caro est, erunt dies illius centum viginti annorum.

730

740

745

750

755

'My gast,' he says, 'sal noght ay dwelle
In man, for he es flesshe and felle;
Hys days sal be for to life here
An hundreth and twenti yhere.'
Bot swa grete elde may nane now bere,
For sythen mans lyfe bycom shortere,
For-whi pe complection of ilk man
Was sythen febler pan it was pan;
Now es it alther-feblest to se,
parfor mans life short byhoues be;
For ay pe langer pat man may lyfe,
pe mare his lyfe sal hym now griefe,
And pe les him sal thynk his lyf swete,

Als in a psalme says be prophete:

Si autem in potentatibus octogynta anni, et amplius eorum labor et dolor?

'If in myghtfulnes four scor yher falle, Mare es pair swynk and sorow with-alle.' For seldom a man pat has pat held Hele has, and him-self may weld; Bot now falles yhit shorter mans dayes, Als Iob, be haly man, bus says:

Nunc paucitas dierum meorum finietur breui.

'Now,' he says, 'my fon days sere

Sal enden with a short tym here.'

[Old Age.]

Fone men may now fourty yhere pas, And foner fifty, als in somtym was; 765 Bot als tyte als a man waxes alde, Pan waxes his kynde wayke & calde, pan chaunges his complexcion And his maners & his condicion; pan waxes his hert hard and heuy, 770 And his heued feble and dysy; pan waxes his gast seke and sare, And his face rouncles, ay mare & mare; His mynde es short when he oght thynkes, His nese ofte droppes, his hand stynkes, 775 His sight wax[es] dym bat he has, His bak waxes croked, stoupand he gas; Fyngers and taes, fote & hande, And alle his touches er tremblande. His werkes forworthes bat he bygynnes; 780 His hare moutes, his eghen rynnes; His eres waxes deef, and hard to here, His tung fayles, his speche es noght clere; His mouthe slauers, his tethe rotes, His wyttes fayles, and he ofte dotes; 785 He es lyghtly wrath, and waxes fraward, Bot to turne hym fra wrethe it es hard; He souches & trowes sone a thyng, Bot ful late he turnes fra pat trowyng;

He es couatous and hard haldand, His chere es drery and his sembland; He es swyft to spek on his manere, And latsom and slaw forto here; He prayses ald men and haldes pam wyse, And yhung men list him oft despyse; He loues men pat in ald tyme has bene, He lakes pa men pat now er sene; He es ofte seke and ay granand, And ofte angerd, and ay pleynand; Alle bir, thurgh kynd, to an ald man falles, pat clerkes propertes of eld calles. Yhit er par ma pan I haf talde, pat falles to a man pat es alde. Pus may men se, wha-so can, What be condicions er of an ald man.

[The End of Man's Life.]

pe last ende of mans lyfe es hard, pat es, when he drawes to ded-ward.
For when he es seke, and bedreden lys,
And swa feble pat he may noght rys,
pan er men in dout and noght certayn
Wethir he sal euer couer agayn.
Bot yhit can som men, pat er sleghe,
Witte if he sal of pat yuel deghe
By certayn takens, als yhe sal here, pat byfalles when pe ded es nere;
pan bygynnes his frount dounward falle,
And his browes heldes doun wyth-alle;
pe lefte eghe of hym pan semes les
And narower pan pe right eghe es;
His nese, at pe poynt, es sharp & smalle,

Pan bygynnes his chyn to falle;
His pouce es stille, with-outen styringes,
His fete waxes calde, his bely clynges.
And if nere be dede be a yhung man,
He ay wakes, and may noght slepe pan;
And an alde man to dede drawand
May noght wake, bot es ay slepand;
Men says, al bir takens sere
Er of a man bat be dede es nere.

[The World. Lines 1211—1292.]

pe world here who-so wille Vn-to four thinges may liken by skille. First be world may lykend be, Mast properly, vn-to be se; For be se, aftir be tydes certayn, 1215 Ebbes and flowes, and falles agayn, And waxes ful ken, thurgh stormes pat blawes, And castes vp and down many gret wawes; Swa castes be world, thurgh fauour, A man to riches and honour; 1220 And fra pat agayn he castes hym doun Til pouert and to tribulacioun. And pa er pe grete stormes kene, And be wawes, bat in be world er sene. Yhit may be world here, bat wyde es, 1225 Be likend to a wildernes, Pat ful of wild bestes es 1 sene, Als lyons, libardes, & wolwes kene, Pat wald worow men bylyue, And rogg pam in sonder and ryue; 123C

Swa be world es ful of mysdoers, And of tyrauntes pat men ofte ders, De whilk er bisy, nyght and day, To nuye men in alle bat bai may. De world alswa may lykend be Til a forest, in a wilde cuntré, Pat es ful of thefs and outlawes, pat, commonly, til forestes drawes, pat haldes pases, & robbes and reues Men of pat pai haue, & noght pam leues; Swa es pe world here par we duelle, Ful of thefs, pat er deuels of helle, pat ay vs waytes, and er bysy To robbe vs of our gudes gastly. De world may yhit, als yhe sal here, Be lykend, on be fierth manere, To a feld ful of batailles Of enemys, bat ilk day men assayles. For-why here we er, on many wyse, Alle vmset with sere enmys, And, speciali, with enmys thre, Agaynes wham vs by-houes armed 1 be: pa er þe world, þe fende, our flesshe, pat, to assayle vs here, er ay freshe; And parfor byhoues vs, day and nyght, Whilles we lif here, agayn pam fight. pe world, als clerkes vnderstandes, Agayn vs fightes with twa handes, With be right hand & be left; bere twa May be-taken bathe wele and wa; pe right hand es welthe, als I halde, And be left hand es angre calde;

For be world assayles sum men awhile With be right hand, bam to bygile, pat es welth, als I sayde before, 1265 Of worldly riches and tresore; And assayles men, nyght and day, With be left hand, bam to flay, pat es, with angre and tribulacion, And pouert and persecucion, 1270 pe whilk per clerkes pe left hand calles Of be world, bat ofte sythes falles. Bot with be world comes dam fortone, pat ayther hand may chaung sone; For sho turnes obout ay hir whele, 1275 Vp and doune, als many may fele; When sho hir whele lates obout-ga, Sho turnes sum doune fra wele to wa, And, eft agaynward, fra wa to wele; Pus turnes sho obout oft hir whele, 1280 pe whilk pir clerkes noght elles calles, Bot happe or chaunce, bat sodanli falles, And bat men haldes here noght elles, Bot welthe and angre in whilk men dwelles. parfor worldly happe es ay in dout, 1285 Whilles dam fortune turnes hir whele about. Angre men dredes and walde it fle, And in welthe men wald ay be; Bot parfit men, þat þair lif right ledes, Welthe of be worlde ay flese and dredes; 1290 For welthe drawes a man fra be right way pat ledes til be blisse bat lastes ay.

[Lines 1412—1473.]

pe life of bis world es ful vnstable, And ful variand and chaungeable, Als es sene in contrarius manere, By be tymes and vedirs and sesons here. 1415 For be world & worldis life to-gider Chaunges and turnes oft hider & pider, And in a state duelles ful short while, Vnnethes be space of a myle. And for-bi bat be worlde es swa vnstable, 1420 Alle pat men sese par-in es chaungeable; For God ordayns here, als es his wille, Sere variaunce, for certayn skille, Of be tyms, and wedirs, and sesons, In taken of be worldes condicions, 1425 pat swa vnstable er and variande, pat ful short while may in a state stande. For God wille men se, thurgh swilk takens sere, How vn-stable bis world es here, Swa þat men suld mare drede and be abayste 1430 Ouer-mykel in be world here to trayste. Ofte chaunges be tymes here, als men wele wate, Als bus; now es arly, now es late, Now es day, now es nyght, Now es myrk, now es light; 1435 And be wedirs chaunges and be sesons, Dus aftir be worldes condicions; For now es cald, now es hete, Now es dry, and now es wete; Now es snaw, hail, or rayn, 1440 And now es fair wedir agayn;

XII.

THE ROMANCE OF WILLIAM OF PALERNE,

OR, WILLIAM AND THE WERWOLF.

A.D. 1350-1360.

ALL that is known concerning the author of the English romance of 'William of Palerne,' or 'William and the Werwolf,' is that his Christian name was William, and that he translated his work (with frequent additions of his own) from the French romance of 'Guillaume de Palerne' (William of Palermo) at the command of Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford, nephew to King Edward II, who died A.D. 1361.

The poem in its English form is supposed by Sir F. Madden to have been written about the year 1350. The dialect is Midland (possibly Shropshire).

The same author translated from the Latin a portion of the 'Romance of Alexander,' of which only a fragment is extant.

The poem was first edited by Sir F. Madden for the Rox-burghe Club, London, 1832; and re-edited in 1867 for the Early English Text Society (together with the 'Alexander' fragment) by the Rev. W. W. Skeat, with Sir F. Madden's assistance, from the unique MS. (No. 13) in the library of King's College, Cambridge.

ALLITERATIVE POEMS.

ABOUT A.D. 1360.

AUTHOR unknown-Dialect West-Midland (Lancashire).

The following extracts are from 'Early English Alliterative Poems,' edited for the Early English Text Society by Dr. Morris, London, 1864; of which a second and revised edition was published in 1869. The latter is here followed.

These poems are preserved in the unique Cotton MS. Nero A. x., written about the close of the fourteenth century.

The symbol 3 is used to represent both g, gb, and z. In the first case it commonly begins a word, and in the last commonly ends one. The symbol t3 has the force of ss or sz, sounded like z.

SIR JOHN MANDEVILLE.

A.D. 1356.

SIR JOHN MANDEVILLE was born about A.D. 1300, commenced his travels in the year 1322, and wrote an account of them in English in the year 1356. He died in November 1371 or 1372. The following extracts, in the Midland dialect, are copied from 'The Voiage and Travaile of Sir John Maundeville,' edited, from the edition of 1725, by J. O. Halliwell, London, 1839. This edition was founded on the Cotton MS. Titus C. xvi.

The Prologue.

[Corrected by Cotton MS. Titus C. xvi.]

[Pages 1-5.]

For als moche as the lond bezonde the see, that is to seye, the holy lond, that men callen the lond of promyssioun, or of beheste, passynge alle othere londes, is the most worthi lond, most excellent, and lady and sovereyn of alle 5 othere londes, and is blessed and halewed of the precyous body and blood of oure Lord Ihesu Crist; in the whiche lond it lykede him to take flesch and blood of the virgyne Marie, to envyrone that holy lond with his blessede feet; and there he wolde of his blessednesse enoumbre him in the seyd blessed and gloriouse virgine Marie, and become man, and 10 worche many myracles, and preche and teche the feyth and the lawe of crystene men unto his children; and there it lykede him to suffre many reprevynges and scornes for us; and he that was kyng of heuene, of eyr, of erthe, of see, and of alle thinges that ben conteyned in hem, wolde alle only 15 ben cleped kyng of that lond, whan he seyde, Rex sum Iudeorum, that is to seyne, I am kyng of Iewes; and that lond he chees before alle other londes, as the beste and most worthi lond, and the most vertuouse lond of alle the world: for it is the herte and the myddes of alle the world: 20 wytnessynge the philosophere, that seyth thus: Virtus rerum in medio consistit: that is to seye, the vertue of thinges is in the myddes; and in that lond he wolde lede his lyf, and suffre passioun and deth, of Iewes, for us; for to bye and to delyvere us from peynes of helle, and from deth with- 25 outen ende; the whiche was ordeynd for us, for the synne of oure formere fader Adam, and for oure owne synnes also: for as for himself, he hadde non evylle deserved: for he thoughte nevere evylle ne did evylle: and he that was kyng of glorie and of ioye, myghte best in that place suffre 30 deth, because he ches in that lond, rathere than in ony othere, there to suffre his passioun and his deth; for he that wil pupplische ony thing to make it openly knowen, he wil make it to ben cryed and pronounced in the myddel place of a town, so that the thing that is proclamed and 35 pronounced may evenly strecche to alle parties: right so he that was formyour of alle the world, wolde suffre for us at Ierusalem, that is the myddes of the world; to that ende and entent, that his passioun and his deth, that was pupplischt there, myghte ben knowen evenly to alle the parties 40 of the world. See now how dere he boughte man, that he made after his owne ymage, and how dere he azenboght

. us, for the grete love that he hadde to us, and wee nevere deserved it to him. For more precyous catelle ne gretter 45 raunsoun ne myghte he put[te] for us than his blessede body, his precious blood, and his holy lyf, that he thralled for us; and alle he offred for us, that nevere did synne. A! dere God, what love hadde he to us his subiettes, whan he that nevere trespaced wolde for trespassours suffre deth! 50 Right wel oughte us for to love and worschipe, to drede and serven such a lord; and to worschipe and preyse such an holy lond that brought forth such fruyt, thorgh the whiche every man is saved, but it be his owne defaute. Wel may that lond ben called delytable and a fructuouse lond, 55 that was bebledd and moysted with the precyouse blode of oure Lord Ihesu Crist; the whiche is the same lond, that oure Lord behighte us in heritage. And in that lond he wolde dye, as seised, for to leve it to vus his children. Wherfore every gode cristene man, that is of powere, and 60 hath whereof, scholde peynen him with alle his strengthe for to conquere oure right heritage, and chacen out alle the mysbeleevynge men. For wee ben clept cristene men, after Crist oure fader. And 3if wee ben right children of Crist, wee oughte for to chalenge the heritage that oure fader lafte 65 us, and do it out of hethene mennes hondes. pryde, covetyse, and envye han so enflawmed the hertes of lordes of the world, that thei are more besy for to disherite here neyghbores, more than for to chalenge or to conquere here right heritage before-seyd. And the comoun peple, 70 that wolde putte here bodyes and here catelle for to conquere oure heritage, thei may not don it withouten the lordes. For a semblee of peple withouten a cheventeyn or a chief lord, is as a flok of scheep withouten a schepperde; the which departeth and desparpleth, and wyten never whider 75 to go. But wolde God, that the temporel lordes and alle worldly lordes weren at gode acord, and with the comoun peple wolden taken this holy viage over the see. Thanne I trowe wel that, within a lityl tyme, oure right heritage before-seyd scholde be reconsyled, and put in the hondes of the right heires of Ihesu Crist.

And for als moche as it is longe tyme passed, that ther was no generalle passage ne vyage over the see; and many men desiren for to here speke of the holy lond, and han there-of gret solace and comfort; I Iohn Maundevylle, Knyght, alle be it I be not worthi, that was born in Englond, 85 in the town of Seynt Albones, and passed the see, in the zeer of oure Lord Ihesu Crist Mill. ccc. & xxij., in the day of Seynt Michelle; and hider-to have ben longe tyme over the see, and have seyn and gon thorgh manye dyverse londes, and many provynces and kyngdomes and iles; and have 90 passed thorghout Turkye, Ermonye the litylle and the grete, Tartarye, Percye, Surrye, Arabye, Egypt the high and the lowe 1; thorgh Lybye, Caldee, and a gret partie of Ethiope; thorgh Amazoyne, Inde the lasse and the more, a gret partie; and thorgh-out many othere iles, that ben abouten Inde; 95 where dwellen many dyverse folk, and of dyverse maneres and lawes, and of dyverse schappes of men. Of whiche londes and iles I schalle speke more pleynly hereafter. And I schalle devise 30u sum partie of thinges that there ben, whan tyme schalle ben, after it may best come to my mynde; too and specyally for hem, that wille and are in purpos for to visite the holy citee of Ierusalem and the holy places that are thereaboute. And I schalle telle the weye, that thei schulle holden thider. For I have often tymes passed and ryden that way, with gode companye of many lordes: God be 105 thonked.

And zee schulle undirstonde, that I have put this boke out of Latyn into Frensch, and translated it azen out of Frensch into Englyssch, that every man of my nacion may understonde it.

But lordes and knyghtes and othere noble and worthi men, that conne not Latyn but litylle, and han ben bezonde the see, knowen and understonden zif I seye trouthe or non, and zif I erre in devisynge, for forzetynge, or elles; that thei mowe redresse it and amende it. For thinges passed out of longe tyme from a mannes mynde or from his syght, turnen sone into forzetynge: because that mynde of man ne may not ben comprehended ne withholden, for the freeltee of mankynde.

(B) PART OF CAP. XII.

Of the begynnyng of Machomete.

[Pages 139-142.]

And 3ee schulle understonde that Machamete was born in Arabye, that was first a pore knave that kepte cameles, that wenten with marchantes for marchandise; and so befelle, that he wente with the marchandes in-to Egipt: and thei weren thanne cristene in tho partyes. And at the desertes of Arabye, he wente into a chapelle where a eremyte duelte. And whan he entred into the chapelle, that was but a lytille and a low thing and had but a lityl dore and a low, than the entree began to wexe so gret and so large and so high, as though it had ben of a gret mynstre, or the 3ate of a paleys. And this was the firste myracle, the Sarazins seyn, that Machomete dide in his 3outhe. After began he for to wexe wyse and riche, and he was a gret astronomer: and after, he was governour and prince of the lond of Corrodane; and he governed it 15 fulle wisely, in such manere, that whan the prince was ded, he toke the lady to wyfe, that highte Gadrige. And Machomete felle often in the grete sikenesse, that men callen the fallynge evylle: wherfore the lady was fulle sory, that evere sche toke him to husbonde. But Machomete made hire to 20 beleeve, that alle tymes, whan he felle so, Gabriel the angel cam for to speke with him; and for the gret light and brightnesse of the angelle, he myghte not susteyne him fro And therfore the Sarazines seyn, that Gabriel fallynge. cam often to speke with him. This Machomete regned in 25 Arabye the zeer of oure Lord Ihesu Crist .vi. c. & x.; and was of the generacion of Ysmael, that was Abrahames sone, that he gat upon Agar his chamberere. And therfore ther ben Sarazines that ben clept Ismaelytenes; and summe Agaryenes, of Agar: and the othere propurly ben clept Sarra-30 zines, of Sarra: and summe ben clept Moabytes, and summe Amonytes, for the .ij. sones of Loth, Moab and Amon, that he begatt on his doughtres, that weren aftirward grete erthely princes. And also Machomete loved wel a gode heremyte, that duelled in the desertes, a myle fro Mount 35 Synay, in the weye that men gon fro Arabye toward Caldee, and toward Ynde, o day iourney fro the see, where the marchauntes of Venyse comen often for marchandise. And so often wente Machomete to this heremyte, that alle his men weren wrothe: for he wolde gladly here this here-40 myte preche, and make his men wake alle nyght: and therfore his men thoughten to putte the heremyte to deth: and so befelle upon a nyght, that Machomete was dronken of gode wyn, and he felle on slepe; and his men toke Machometes swerd out of his schethe whils he slepte, and there- 45 with thei slowgh this heremyte, and putten his swerd al blody in his schethe azen. And at morwe, whan he fond the heremyte ded, he was fulle sory and wroth, and wolde have don his men to deth: but thei alle with on accord 50 [seyde], that he himself had slayn him, whan he was dronken, and schewed him his swerd alle blody: and he trowed that thei hadden seyd soth. And than he cursed the wyn, and alle tho that drynken it. And therfore Sarrazines, that ben devout, drynken nevere no wyn: but summe 55 drynken it prevyly. For 3if thei dronken it openly, thei scholde ben repreved. But thei drynken gode beverage and swete and norysshynge, that is made of Galamelle: and that is that men maken sugre of, that is of right gode savour: and it is gode for the breest. Also it befalleth sumtyme, 60 that Cristene men becomen Sarazines, outher for povertee or for symplenesse, or elles for here owne wykkednesse. therfore the archiflamyn or the flamyn, as oure e[r]chebisshopp or bisshopp, whan he resceyveth hem, seyth thus, La ellec olla syla, Machomet rores alla 1; that is to seye, There 65 is no God but on, and Machomete his messager.

(C) CAP. XXVI.

Of the Contrees and Yles that ben bezonde the lond of Cathay; and of the Frutes there; and of xxij Kynges enclosed within the Mountaynes.

[Pages 263-269.]

Now schalle I seye 30u sewyngly of contrees and yles, that ben bezonde the contrees that I have spoken of. Wherfore I seye 30u, in passynge be the lond of Cathaye, toward the high Ynde, and toward Bacharye, men passen be a kyng-5 dom that men clepen Caldilhe; that is a fulle fair contre.

And there groweth a maner of fruyt, as though it weren gowrdes: and whan thei ben rype, men kutten hem a-to, and men fynden with-inne a lytylle best, in flesch, in bon and blode, as though it were a lytille lomb with-outen wolle. And men eten bothe the frut and the best: and that is a 10 gret merveylle. Of that frute I have eten; alle-though it were wondirfulle: but that I knowe wel, that God is merveyllous in his werkes. And natheles I tolde hem of als gret a merveyle to hem, that is amonges us: and that was of the Bernakes. For I tolde hem, that in oure contree 15 weren trees, that baren a fruyt, that becomen briddes fleeynge: and tho that fellen in the water, lyven; and thei that fallen on the erthe, dyen anon: and thei ben right gode to mannes mete. And here-of had thei als gret mervaylle, that summe of hem trowed, it were an inpossible 20 thing to be.

1 Rather, La Illa illa Allab, we Mubammed Resul Allab.

In that contre ben longe apples, of gode savour; where-of ben mo than an .c. in a clustre, and als manye in another: and thei han grete longe leves and large, of .ij. fote long or more. And in that contree, and in other contrees there 25 abouten, growen many trees, that beren clowe-gylofres and notemuges, and grete notes of Ynde and of Canelle and of many other spices. And there ben vynes that beren so grete grapes, that a strong man scholde have ynow to done for to bere o clustre with alle the grapes. In that same 30 regioun ben the mountaynes of Caspye, that men clepen Uber in the contree. Betwene tho mountaynes, the Iewes of .x. lynages ben enclosed, that men clepen Goth and Magoth: and thei mowe not gon out on no syde. There weren enclosed .xxij. kynges with hire peple, that dwelleden 35 betwene the mountaynes of Sythye. There Kyng Alisandre chacede hem betwene tho mountaynes, and there he thoughte for to enclose hem thorgh werk of his men. But whan he saugh that he myghte not don it, ne brynge it to an ende, he preyed to God of Nature, that he wolde 40 parforme that that he had begonne. And alle were it so that he was a payneme and not worthi to ben herd, 3it God of his grace closed the mountaynes to-gydre: so that thei dwellen there, alle faste y-lokked and enclosed with high 45 mountaynes alle aboute, saf only on o syde; and on that syde, is the see of Caspye. Now may sum men asken, sith that the see is on that o syde, wherfore go thei not out on the see syde, for to go where that hem lyketh? But to this questioun, I schal answere, that see of Caspye goth out 50 be londe, under the mountaynes, and renneth be the desert at o syde of the contree; and after it streccheth unto the endes of Persie. And alle-though it be clept a see, it is no see, ne it toucheth to non other see: but it is a lake, the grettest of the world. And though thei 55 wolden putten hem in-to that see, thei ne wysten never where that thei scholde arryven. And also thei conen no langage but only hire owne, that noman knoweth but thei: and therfore mowe thei not gon out. And also zee schulle understonde, that the Iewes han no propre lond of 60 hire owne for to dwellen inne in alle the world, but only that lond betwene the mountaynes. And zit thei zelden tribute for that lond to the Queen of Amazoine, the whiche that maketh hem to ben kept in cloos fulle diligently, that thei schulle not gon out on no syde, but be the cost of hire 65 lond. For hire lond marcheth to the mountaynes. often it hath befallen, that summe of the Iewes han gon up the mountaynes, and avaled down to the valeyes: but gret nombre of folk ne may not do so. For the mountaynes ben so hye and so streght up, that thei moste abyde there, 70 maugree hire myght. For thei mowe not gon out but be a litille issue, that was made be strengthe of men; and it lasteth wel a .iiij. grete myle. And after, is there zit a lond alle desert, where men may fynde no water, ne for dyggynge ne for non other thing. Wherfore men may not dwellen in that place: so is it fulle of dragounes, of 75 serpentes, and of other venymous bestes, that noman dar not passe, but zif it be be strong wynter. And that streyt passage men clepen in that contree, Clyron. And that is the passage that the queen of Amazoine maketh to ben kept. And thogh it happene sum of hem, be fortune, 80 to gon out; thei conen no maner of langage but Ebrew; so that thei can not speke to the peple. And zit natheles, men seyn thei schulle gon out in the tyme of Antecrist, and that thei schulle maken gret slaughter of Cristene men.

And therfore alle the Iewes that dwellen in alle londes, 85 lernen alle weys to speken Ebrew, in hope that whan the other lewes schulle gon out, that thei may understonden hire speche, and to leden hem in-to Cristendom, for to destroye the cristene peple. For the Iewes seyn, that their knowen wel, be hire prophecyes, that thei of Caspye schulle 90 gon out and spreden thorgh-out alle the world; and that the Cristene men schulle ben under hire subjeccion, als longe as thei han ben in subjection of hem. And zif that see wil wyte how that thei schulle fynden hire weye, after that I have herd seye, I schalle telle 30u. In the tyme of 95 Antecrist, a fox schalle make there his trayne, and mynen an hole, where kyng Alisandre leet make the sates: and so longe he schalle mynen and percen the erthe, til that he schalle passe thorgh, towardes that folk. And whan their seen the fox, they schulle have gret merveylle of him, be 100 cause pat thei saugh never such a best. For of alle othere bestes thei han enclosed amonges hem, saf only the fox. And thanne thei schulle chacen him and pursuen him so streyte, tille that he come to the same place that he cam fro. And thanne thei schulle dyggen and mynen so strongly, 105 tille that thei fynden the zates, that Kyng Alisandre leet make of grete stones and passynge huge, wel symented and made stronge for the maystrie. And tho 3 ates thei schulle breken, and so gon out, be fyndynge of that issue. Fro that lond gon men toward the lond of Bacharie, where ben fulle yvele folk and fulle cruelle. In that lond ben trees, that beren wolle as thogh it were of scheep; where-of men maken clothes, and alle thing that may ben made of wolle. In that contree ben many Ipotaynes, that dwellen somtyme in the water and somtyme on the lond: and thei ben half man and half hors, as I have seyd before: and thei eten men, whan thei may take hem. And there ben ryveres and watres that ben fulle byttere, three sithes more than is the water of the see.

In that contre ben many griffounes, more plentee than Sum men seyn, that thei han the in ony other contree. body upward as an egle, and benethe as a lyoun: and treuly thei seyn soth, that thei ben of that schapp. o griffoun hath the body more gret and is more strong 125 thanne .viij. lyouns, of suche lyouns as ben o this half; and more gret and strongere than an .c. egles, suche as we han amonges us. For o griffoun there wil bere, fleynge to his nest, a gret hors, (3if he may fynde him at the poynt1,) or ij. oxen 30ked to-gidere, as thei gon at the plowgh. 130 he hath his talouns so longe and so large and grete upon his feet, as though thei weren hornes of grete oxen or of bugles or of kyzn; so that men maken cuppes of hem, to drynken of: and of hire ribbes and of the pennes of hire wenges, men maken bowes fulle stronge, to schote with 135 arwes and quarelle.

WILLIAM LANGLAND, OR LANGLEY.

A.D. 1362.

According to tradition, William Langland, Longland, or Langley, was a native of Cleobury Mortimer in Shropshire. He must have been born about the year 1332, and have died about 1400. He is supposed to have been educated near the Malvern Hills (Worcestershire), where he composed the first version of his great poem entitled 'The Vision of William concerning Piers the Plowman' (Visio Willelmi de Petro le Plowman) shortly after the time of the great plague which ravaged England, A.D. 1361-2. About the year 1377 he was living in London, where he wrote his second version of the poem, extending it to three times its former length. Subsequently he returned to the West of England, and again re-wrote his poem, with various additions and alterations, between 1380 and 1390.

Piers the Plowman is an allegorical poem, or series of poems, in which the author satirizes the vices and abuses of the age, the degeneracy of the prelates and priests, political corruptions, the avarice and rapacity of the nobility, and the oppression of the poor by the rich. Piers is intended to represent the model Christian, and is at times identified with Christ.

All three versions of the poem (A-text, B-text, and C-text) are being published for the Early English Text Society, edited by the Rev. W. W. Skeat; the first two volumes have already appeared. The following extracts are from the A-text, which is based upon the copy in the Vernon MS. in the Bodleian Library, the dialect of which is Southern, with Midland peculiarities.

JOHN BARBOUR.

A.D. 1375.

John Barbour was born, according to some, in 1316; according to others, as late as 1330. He is described as being Archdeacon of Aberdeen in 1357. He died about the year 1395. His great work, entitled 'The Bruce,' was partly written in 1375, as he himself tells us. It extends to more than 13,000 lines, and describes the life and adventures of Robert Bruce, King of Scots, and his companions. It has been many times printed.

The latest edition (not yet completed) is that published for the Early English Text Society, and edited by the Rev. W. W. Skeat from a MS. in the library of St. John's College, Cambridge, written A.D. 1487, with collations from the MS. in the Advocate's Library at Edinburgh, written A.D. 1489, and the early printed editions. We extract from this edition a portion of the Seventh Book.

CAP. I.

HE bigynnynge of the gospel of Jhesu Crist, the sone of 1.

As it is writun in Ysaie, the prophete, 'Lo! I sende 2 angel bifore thi face, that schal make thi weye redy e thee. The voice of oon cryinge in desert, Make 3e 3

4 redy the weye of the Lord, make 3e his pathis ri3tful.' Jhon was in desert baptisynge, and prechinge the baptym of 5 penaunce, in-to remiscioun of synnes. And alle men of Jerusalem wenten out to him, and al the cuntre of Judee; and weren baptisid of him in the flood of Jordan, know-6 lechinge her synnes. And John was clothid with heeris of camelis, and a girdil of skyn abowte his leendis; and he 7 eet locustus, and hony of the wode, and prechide, seyinge, 'A strengere than I schal come aftir me, of whom I knelinge am not worthi for to vndo, or vnbynde, the thwong of his 8 schoon. I haue baptisid 30u in water; forsothe he shal 9 baptise 30u in the Holy Goost.' And it is don in thoo dayes, Jhesus came fro Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptisid of 10 Joon in Jordan. And anoon he styinge vp of the water, say; heuenes openyd, and the Holy Goost cummynge doun 11 as a culuere, and dwellynge in hym. And a voys is maad fro heuenes, 'Thou art my sone loued, in thee I haue plesid.' And anon the Spirit puttide hym in-to desert. And he was in desert fourty dayes and fourty niztis, and was temptid of Sathanas, and was with beestis, and angelis mynystriden to 14 hym. Forsothe after that Joon was taken, Jhesus came in-to 15 Galilee, prechinge the gospel of the kyngdam of God, and seiynge, 'For tyme is fulfillid, and the kyngdam of God shal come niz; forthinke zee, or do zee penaunce, and bileue zee to 16 the gospel.' And he passynge bisidis the see of Galilee, say Symont, and Andrew, his brother, sendynge nettis in-to the 17 see; sothely thei weren fishers. And Jhesus seide to hem, 'Come see after me; I shal make sou to be maad fishers of 18 men.' And anoon, the nettis forsaken, thei sueden hym. 19 And he gon forth thennes a litil, say James of Zebede, and Joon, his brother, and hem in the boot makynge nettis. 20 And anoon he clepide hem; and Zebede, her fadir, left in 21 the boot with hirid servauntis, thei sueden hym. And thei wenten forth in-to Cafarnaum, and anoon in the sabotis he, gon yn into the synagoge, tauzte hem. And thei wondreden 22 on his techynge; sothely he was techynge hem, as hauynge power, and not as scribis. And in the synagoge of hem 23 was a man in an vnclene spirit, and he criede, seyinge, 24 'What to vs and to thee, thou Jhesu of Nazareth? haste thou cummen bifore the tyme for to destroie vs? Y woot that thou art the holy of God.' And Jhesus thretenyde to hym, 25 seyinge, 'Wexe dowmb, and go out of the man.' And the 26 vaclene goost debrekynge hym, and cryinge with grete vois, wente awey fro hym. And alle men wondriden, so that thei 27 souzten togidre amonge hem, seyinge, 'What is this thinge? what is this newe techyng? for in power he comaundith to vnclene spiritis, and thei obeyen to hym.' And the tale, or 28 tything, of hym wente forth anoon in-to al the cuntree of Galilee. And anoon thei goynge out of the synagoge 29 camen in-to the hous of Symont and Andrew, with James and Joon. Sothely and the modir of Symontis wif sik in 30 feueris restide, or lay; and anoon thei seien to hym of hir. And he cummynge to, reride hir vp, the hond of hir taken, 31 and anoon the feuere left hire, and she mynystride to hem. Forsothe the euenynge maad, whenne the sone wente doun, 32 thei brouzten to hym alle hauynge yuel, and hauynge deuelis. And al the cite was gaderid at the 3ate. And he helide 33 many that weren traueilide with dyuers soris, and he castide out many deuelis, and he suffride hem nat for to speke, for thei knewen hym. And in the morewynge ful erly he 35 rysynge, gon out, wente in-to desert place, and preiede there. And Symont suede hym, and thei that weren with 36 hym. And whanne thei hadden founden hym, thei seiden 37 to hym, 'For alle men seeken thee.' And he seith to hem, 38 'Go we in-to the nexte townes and citees, that and there I preche, for to this thing I came.' And he was prechynge in 39 the synagogis of hem, and in alle Galilee, and castynge out fendis. And a leprous man cam to hym, bisechynge hym, and, the knee folden, seide, '3if thou wolt, thou maist clense me.' Forsothe Jhesus, hauynge mercy on hym, streizt out his hond, and, touchynge hym, seith to hym, 'I wole, be thou maad clene.' And whanne he hadde seide, anoon the lepre partide awey fro hym, and he is clensid. And he thretenyde to hym, and anoon he putte hym out, and seith to hym, 'Se thou, seie to no man; but go, shewe thee to the princis of prestis, and offre for thi clensynge tho thingis that Moyses badde, in-to witnessynge to hem.' Sothely whanne Jhesus say the feith of hem, he seith vnto the sike man in palasie, 'Sone, 6 thi synnes ben forzouen to thee.' Forsothe there weren summe of the scribis sittynge and thenkynge in her hertis, 7 'What spekith he thus? He blassemeth; who may forzeue 8 synnes, no-but God alone?' The whiche thing anoon knowen by the Holy Goost, for thei thoshten so with-inne hem-self, Jhesus seith to hem, 'What thenken zee these thingis in 30ure hertis? What is listere for to seie to the 9 sike man in palasie, Synnes ben forzouen to thee, or for to seie, Ryse, take thi bed, and walke? Sothely that 3ee wite 10 that mannes sone hath powere in erthe to forzeue synnes,' he seith to the sike man in palasie, 'I seie to thee, ryse vp, 11 take thy bed, and go in-to thin house.' And anoon he roos 12 vp, and, the bed taken vp, he wente bifore alle men, so that alle men wondriden, and honouriden God, seyinge, 'For we sayen neuer so.' And he wente out eftsone to the see, and 13 al the cumpanye of peple cam to hym; and he tauzte hem. And whenne he passide, he say Leui Alfey sittynge at the 14 tolbothe, and he seith to hym, 'Sue thou me.' And he rysynge suede hym. And it is don, whenne he sat at the 15 mete in his hous, many puplicanys and synful men saten togidre at the mete with Jhesu and his disciplis; sothely there weren manye that followeden hym. And scribis and 16 Pharisees seeyinge, for he eet with puplicanys and synful men, seiden to his disciplis, 'Whi 3oure maister etith and drinkith with puplicanys and synners?' This thing herd, 17 Jhesus seith to hem, 'Hoole man han no nede to a leche, but thei that han yuele; forsothe I cam not for to clepe iuste men, but synners.' And disciplis of Joon and the 18 Pharisees weren fastynge; and thei camen, and seien to hym, 'Whi disciplis of Joon and of Pharisees fasten, but thi disciplis fasten nat?' And Jhesus seith to hym, 'Whether 19 the sonnys of weddyngis mown faste, as long as the spouse is with hem? Hou longe tyme thei han the spouse with hem, thei mowe nat faste. Forsothe dayes shulen come, 20 whenne the spouse shal be taken awey from hem, and thanne thei shulen faste in thoo days. No man seweth a pacche of 21 rude, or newe, clothe to an old clothe, ellis he takith awey the newe supplement, or pacche, and a more brekynge is maad. And the scribis that camen down fro Jerusalem, seiden, 'For 22 he hath Belsebub, and for in the prince of deuels he castith out fendis.' And, hem gadrid togidre, he seide to hem in 23 parablis, 'Hou may Sathanas caste out Sathanas? And if a 24 rewme be departide in itself, the ilke rewme may not stonde. And if an hous be disparpoiled on it-self, thilke hous may 25 not stonde. And if Sathanas hath risen azeins hym-self, he 26 is disparpoilid, and he shal not mowe stonde, but hath an ende. No man, gon in-to a stronge mannes hous, may take 27

awey his vessels, no-but he bynde firste the stronge man, 28 and thanne he shal diversly rauyshe his hous. seie to 30u, for alle synnes and blasphemyes, by whiche thei han blasfemed, shulen be forzouen to the sones of men. 29 Sothely he that shal blasfeme azeins the Holy Gost, shal not haue remissioun in-to with-outen eend, but he shal be gilty 30 of euerlastynge trespas.' For thei seiden, 'He hath an un-31 clene spirit.' And his modir and bretheren comen, and thei stondynge with-oute-forth, senten to hym, clepynge hym. 32 And a cumpany sat aboute hym; and thei seien to hym, 'Lo! thi modir, and thi bretheren with-outen-forth seken 33 thee.' And he answerynge to hem seith, 'Who is my modir 34 and my bretheren?' And biholdynge hem aboute, that saten in the cumpas of hym, he seith, 'Lo! my modir and my 35 bretheren. And eft Jhesus bigan for to teche at the see; and myche cumpany of peple is gedrid to hym, so that he, styinge in-to a boot, sat in the see, and al the cumpany of peple was aboute the see, on the lond. And he tauste hem in parablis many thingis. And he seide to hem in his techynge, 'Heere see. Loo! a man sowynge goth out for to sowe. And the while he sowith, an other seed felde aboute the wey, and briddis of heuene, or of the eire, camen, and eeten it. Forsothe an other felde down on stony placis, wher it had[de] nat myche erthe; and anoon it sprong vp, for it hadde nat depnesse of erthe. And whenne the sunne rose vp, it welwide for heete, and it dried vp, for it hadde not roote. And an other felde down into thornes, and thornes stieden vp, and strangliden it, and it saue not fruyt. And an other felde down in-to good lond, and saue fruyt, styinge

And whenne he was singuler, 10 or by hym-silf, the twelve that weren with hym axiden hym for to expowne the parable. And he seide to hem, 'To 30u 11 it is 30uen for to knowe the mysterie, or pryuite, of the kyngdam of God. Sothely to hem that ben with-oute-forth, alle thingis ben maad in parablis, that thei seynge se, and 12 se nat, and thei heerynge heere, and vnderstonde not; that sum tyme thei be conuertid, and synnes be forzouen to hem.' And he seith to hem, 'Witen not zee this parable? and howe 13 3ee shulden knowe alle parablis? He that sowith, sowith a 14 word. These sothly ben that aboute the weye, where the 15 word is sowun; and whenne thei han herd, anoon cometh Sathanas, and takith awey the word that is sowun in her And also these ben that ben sown on a stoon, the 16 whiche whanne thei han herd the word, a-noon taken it with ioye; and thei han nat roote in hem-silf, but thei ben 17 temporal, that is, lasten a lityl tyme; afterward tribulacioun sprongen vp, and persecucioun for the word, anoon thei ben sclaundrid. And there ben other that ben sowun in thornis; 18 these it ben, that heeren the word, and myseise of the world, and disseit of richessis, and other charge of coueitise en- 19 trynge ynne, strangulen the word, and it is maad with-outen fruyt. And these it ben that ben sowun on good lond, the 20 whiche heren the word, and taken, and maken fruyt, oon thritti-fold, oon sixti-fold, and oon an hundrid.' And he 21 seide to hem, 'Wher a lanterne come, that it be put vndir a bushel? wher not, that it be put vpon a candil-stike? Forsothe ther is no thing hid, that shal not be maad opyn; 22 nether ony thing is preuy, the whiche shal not come in-to apert. If ony man haue eeris of heryng, heere he.' And he 23 seide to hem, 'See 3ee what 3ee heeren. In what mesure 3ee

Sothely it shal be zouen to hym that hath, and it shal be taken awey 26 from hym that hath not, also that that he hath.' seide, 'So the kingdom of God is, as if a man caste seed in-27 to the erthe, and he slepe, and it ryse vp in nizt and day, and brynge forth seed, and wexe faste, the while he wote Forsothe the erthe by his owne worchynge makith fruyt, first an erbe, or grene corn, afterward an eere, afterward 29 ful fruyt in the ere. And whanne of it-silf it hath brougt forth fruyt, anoon he sendith a sikil, or hook, for rype corn 30 cometh.' And he seide, 'To what thing shulden we likene the kyngdom of God? or to what parable shulen we com-31 parisoune it? As a corn of seneueye, the which, whann it is sowun in the erthe, is lesse than alle seedis that ben in 32 erthe; and whanne it is bredd, or quykened, it styzeth vp into a tree, and is maad more than alle wortis, or erbis; and it shal make grete braunchis, so that briddis of heuene mowe 33 dwelle vndir the shadewe ther-of.' And in many siche parablis he spac to hem a word, as thei mizten heere; 34 sothely he spak not to hem with-outen parable. Forsothe he expounyde to his disciplis alle thingis on-sidis hond, or 35 by hem-self. And he seith to hem in that day, whenne 36 euenyng was maad, 'Passe we azeinward.' And thei leeuynge the cumpanye of peple, taken hym, so that he was in the 37 boot; and other bootis weren with hym. And a greet storme of wynd is maad, and sente wawis in-to the boot, so 38 that the boot was ful. And he was in the hyndir part of the boot, slepynge on a pilewe. And thei reysen hym, and seien to hym, 'Maistre, perteneth it nat to thee, that we 39 perishen?' And he rysynge vp, manasside to the wynd, and seide to the see, 'Be stille, wexe doumb.' And the wynd 40 ceeside, and greet pesiblenesse is maad. And he seith to 41 hem, 'What dreden zee?—Nat zit han zee feith?' And thei

And he, cryinge with greet voice, seide, 7 'What to me and to thee, thou Jhesu, the sone of God hieste? I conioure thee bi God, that thou tourmente not me.' Forsothe Jhesus seide to hym, 'Thou vnclene spirit, go 8 out fro the man.' And Jhesus axide hym, 'What name is to 9 thee?' And he seith to hym, 'A legioun is name to me; for we ben manye.' And he seide to hem, 'Whidir euere zee schulen entre in-to an hous, dwelle ze there, till ze 11 gon out thennis. And who euere schulen not resseyue, ne heere 30u, 3e goynge out fro thennes shake awey the powdre 12 fro 30ure feet, in-to witnessinge to hem.' And the kyng was sory for the ooth, and for men sittinge 26 to-gidere at mete he wolde not hir be maad sory; but, a 27 manquellere sent, he comaundide the heed of John Baptist for to be brought. And he bihedide him in the prison, and 28 brouzte his heed in a dische, and 3af it to the wenche, and the wench 3af to hir modir. ### JOHN OF TREVISA.

A.D. 1387.

JOHN OF TREVISA was a native of Cornwall, but resided chiefly in Gloucestershire, being vicar of Berkeley, and chaplain to Thomas Lord Berkeley. He is said to have been the author of an English version of the Old and New Testaments; of which, however, nothing is now known.

His best-known work is a translation of 'Higden's Polychronicon,' which was completed in A.D. 1387. It was printed by Caxton in 1482, with a continuation of the narrative from 1357 to 1460.

The first three volumes of a complete edition of 'Higden's Polychronicon,' with Trevisa's translation, have been published under the direction of the Master of the Rolls; but as the English MS. selected for that edition is not, philologically, a very important one, the contemporary MS. Tiberius D. vii., in the Southern dialect, has been resorted to for the following extracts.

The last extract, 'The Norman Invasion,' exhibits more of the translator's provincialisms than are apparent in the former ones; and may be advantageously compared with Robert of Gloucester's narrative of this event (p. 1) in the same dialect.

GEOFFREY CHAUCER.

A.D. 1340-1400.

CHAUCER was born about the year 1340, as in 1386 he deposed that he was forty years of age, and upwards. He was frequently employed in diplomatic service during the years 1370 to 1380. He died (as is said) on Oct. 25, 1400, and was buried in Westminster Abbey. His writings are very numerous, but his most famous and best-known work is the 'Canterbury Tales,' which we may roughly date about 1390, though it was never finished. Amongst his other works we may specially mention:—

- (a) 'The Dethe of Blaunche the Duchesse' (1369), 'The Parlement of Foules,' and a translation of 'Boethius de Consolatione Philosophiæ' (in prose), in five books.
- (b) 'Troilus and Creseide,' in five books; 'The House of Fame,' in three books.
- (c) 'The Legende of Good Women,' the 'Canterbury Tales,' and a 'Treatise on the Astrolabe' (in prose), written for his son Lewis, about A.D. 1391.

Several works have been ascribed to him which are not his; amongst them are 'The Testament of Love,' in prose and anonymous, 'The Complaint of the Black Knight,' by Lydgate; also 'The Dream,' 'The Flower and the Leaf,' and 'The Court of Love,' all by unknown authors. He is known to have translated the 'Roman de la Rose,' but it does not appear that the sole translation of it now extant is his. In the former edition of this work will be found the 'Pardoneres Tale' and 'The Prioresse Tale,' chiefly from MS. Harl. 7334. The publications of the Chaucer Society now enable us to give a large portion of 'The Man of Lawes Tale,' in which the Ellesmere MS. (denoted by E.) is followed verbally, except where notice to the contrary is given in the foot-notes; but in some instances the spellings of the words have been altered so as to agree with the spellings in the other MSS., viz. the Hengwrt, Cambridge, Corpus, Petworth, Lansdowne, and Harleian.

Here begynneth the man of lawe his tale.

In Surrye whilom dwelte a companyë

Of chapmen riche, and therto sadde and trewë,

That wydë-where senten hir spiceryë,

Clothës of gold, and satyns riche of hewë;

Hir chaffare was so thrifty and so newë,

That euery wight hath deyntee to chaffarë

With hem, and eek to sellen hem hir warë.

Now fel it, that the maistres of that sort

Han shapen hem to Romë for to wendë;

Were it for chapmanhode or for disport,

Noon other message wolde they thider sendë,

But comen hem-self to Romë, this is the endë;

And in swich place, as thoughte hem auantagë

For hir entent, they take hir herbergagë.

Soiourned han thise marchantz in that toun
A certein tyme, as fel to hir plesancë,
And so bifel, that thexcellent renoun
Of themperourës doughter, dame Custancë,
Reported was, with euery circumstancë,
Vn-to thise Surryen marchantz in swich wysë<sup>1</sup>,
Fro day to day, as I shal yow deuysë.

&lt;sup>1</sup> E. 'swich a wyse'; but the other MSS. omit 'a.'

This was the commune voys of euery man—
'Oure Emperour of Romë, god him see,
A doughter hath that, syn the world bigan,
To rekne as wel hir goodnesse as beautee,
Nas neuere swich another as is she;
I prey to god in honour hir susteene,
And wolde she were of al Europe the queene.

In hir is heigh beautee, with-outë pride,
Yowthë, with-outë grenehede or folyë;
To alle hir werkes vertu is hir gyde,
Humblesse hath slayn in hir al tirannyë.

She is mirour of allë curteisyë;
Hir herte is verray chambre of holynessë,
Hir hand, ministre of fredom for almessë.'

And al this voys was soth, as god is trewë,
But now to purpos lat vs turne agayn;
Thise marchantz han doon fraught hir shippës newë,
And, whan they han this blisful mayden seyn,
Hoom to Surryë ben they went ful fayn,
And doon hir nedës as they han doon yorë,
And lyuen in wele; I can sey yow no morë.

Now fel it, that thise marchantz stode in gracë Of hym, that was the sowdan of Surryë; For whan they came from any strangë placë, He wolde, of his benignë curteisyë, Make hem good chere, and bisily espyë Tidynges of sondry regnës, for to lerë The wondres that they myghtë seen or herë.

180

Amongës othere thingës, specially
This marchantz han hym told of dame Custancë,
So gret noblesse in ernest, ceriously,
185
That this sowdan hath caught so gret plesancë
To han hir figure in his remembrancë,
That all his lust and al his bisy cure
Was for to loue hir while his lyf may dure.

Parauenture in thilkë largë book

Which that men clepe the heuen, ywriten was
With sterrës, whan that he his birthë took,
That he for loue shulde han his deth, allas!
For in the sterrës, clerer than is glas,
Is writen, god wot, who so coude it redë,

195
The deth of euery man, withouten dredë.

In sterrës, many a wynter ther-biforn,
Was writen the deth of Ector, Achilles,
Of Pompei, Iulius, er they were born;
The strif of Thebës; and of Ercules,
Of Sampson, Turnus, and of Socrates
The deth; but mennës wittës ben so dullë,
That no wight can wel rede it attë fullë.

This sowdan for his priuee conseil sentë,
And, shortly of this mater for to pacë,
He hath to hem declared his ententë,
And seyde hem certein, 'but he myghte haue gracë
To han Custance with-inne a litel spacë,
He nas but deed;' and charged hem, in hyë,
To shapen for his lyf som remedyë.

Diuersë men diuersë thinges seyden; They argumenten 1, casten vp and doun; Many a subtil resoun forth they leyden, They speken of magik and abusioun; But finally, as in conclusioun, They can not seen in that non auantage, Ne in non other wey, saue mariagë.

Than seyë they ther-in swich difficultee By way of resoun, for to speke al playn, By cause that ther was swich diversitee Bitwene hir bothë lawës, that they sayn, They trowë 'that no christen prince wolde fayn Wedden his child vnder oure lawe's sweete That vs were taught by Mahoun oure prophetë.'

220

And he answerdë, 'rather than I lesë 225 Custance, I wol be cristned doutëlees; I mot ben hires, I may non other chesë. I prey yow holde youre argumentz in pees; Saueth my lyf, and beth nought recchëlees To getten hir that hath my lyf in cure, 230 For in this wo I may not longe endure.'

What nedeth gretter dilatacioun? I seye, by tretys and embassadrië, And by the popës mediacioun, And al the chirche, and al the chiualrië, That, in destruccioun of Maumettrië, And in encrees of cristës lawë derë, They ben accorded, so as ye shal herë;

&lt;sup>1</sup> Harl., Corp. 'argumentes'; but see l. 228.

How that the sowdan and his baronagë

And alle hise lieges shulde yeristned be,

And he shal han Custance in mariagë,

And certein gold, I not what quantitee,

And her-to founden suffisant seurtee;

This same accord was sworn on eyther sydë;

Now, faire Custance, almyghty god thee gydë!

245

Now wolde som men waiten, as I gesse,
That I shulde tellen al the purveiance
That themperour, of his gret noblesse,
Hath shapen for his doughter dame Custance.
Wel may men knowe that so gret ordinance
250
May no man tellen in a litel clause
As was arrayed for so heigh a cause.

Bisshopes ben shapen with hire for to wendë,
Lordës, ladiës, knyghtës of renoun,
And other folk ynow, this is the endë;
And notified is thurgh-out the toun
That euery wight, with gret deuocioun,
Shulde preyen crist that he this mariage
Receyue in gree, and spedë this viagë.

The day is comen of hir departyng,

I sey, the woful day fatal is comë,

That ther may be no lenger tariyng,

But forthward they hem dressen, alle and somë;

Custance, that was with sorwe al ouercomë,

Ful pale arist, and dresseth hir to wendë;

For wel she seeth ther is non other endë.

Allas! what wonder is it though she weptë,
That shal be sent to strangë nacioun
Fro frendës, that so tendrely hir keptë,
And to be bounden vnder subjectioun
Of oon, she knoweth not his condicioun.
Housbondës ben alle goode, and han ben yorë,
That knowen wyuës, I dar say yow no morë.

'Fader,' she sayde, 'thy wrecched child Custancë,
Thy yongë doughter, fostred vp so softë,
And ye, my mooder, my souerayn plesancë
Ouer allë thing, out-taken crist on loftë,
Custance, your child, hir recomandeth oftë
Vn-to your grace, for I shal to Surryë,
Ne shal I neuer seen yow more with yë.

280

Allas! vn-to the Barbre nacioun

I mostë gon, syn that it is your willë;
But crist, that starf for our sauacioun,
So yeue me grace, hise hestës to fulfillë;
I, wrecchë womman, no fors though I spillë.

Wommen are born to thraldom and penancë,
And to ben vnder mannës gouernancë.'

I trowe, at Troye whan Pirrus brak the wal,
Or [Theseus]<sup>1</sup> brendë Thebës the citee,
Nat <sup>2</sup> Romë, for the harm thurgh Hanybal
That Romayns hath venquysshëd tymës thre,
Nas herd swich tendre wepyng for pitee

290

All the best MSS. read 'ylion,' which is obviously wrong; the substitution of 'Theseus' is without authority, but receives some support from the 'Knightes Tale,' l. 132.

As in the chambre was for hir departyngë; Bot forth she moot, wher-so she wepe or syngë.

O firstë moeuyng cruel firmament,

With thy diurnal sweigh that crowdest ay
And hurlest al from Est til Occident,

That naturelly wolde holde another way,

Thy crowdyng set the heuen in swich array
At the bigynnyng of this fiers viagë,

That cruel Mars hath slayn this mariagë.

Infortunat ascendent tortuous,

Of which the lord is helplees falle, allas!
Out of his angle in-to the derkest hous.
O Mars, O Atazir, as in this cas!
O feble moone, vnhappy ben thy pas!
Thou knyttest thee ther thou art not receyuëd,
Ther thou were wel, from thennës artow weyuëd.

Imprudent emperour of Rome, allas!

Was ther no philosophre in al thy toun?

Is no tyme bet than other in swich cas?

Of viage is ther non eleccioun?

Namely, to folk of heigh condicioun,

Not whan a roote is of a birthe yknowë?

Allas! we ben to lewëd or to slowë.

315

To shippe is brought 1 this woful fairë maydë
Solempnëly with euery circumstancë.
'Now Ihesu crist be with yow alle,' she saydë,
Ther nys no more but 'farewel! faire Custancë!'
She peyneth hir to make good contenancë,
And forth I lete hir saile in this manerë,
And turne I wol agayn to my materë.

&lt;sup>1</sup> E. 'come'; 'brought' in the rest.

The mooder of the sowdan, welle of vices,

Espiëd hath hir sonës pleyn ententë,

How he wol lete his oldë sacrifices,

And right anon she for hir conseil sentë;

And they ben come, to knowë what she mentë.

And whan assembled was this folk in-ferë,

She sette hir doun, and sayde as ye shal herë.

'Lordës,' quod she 1, 'ye knowen euerichon,
How that my sone in point is for to letë
The holy lawës of oure Alkaron,
Yeuen by goddës message 2 Makometë.
But oon auow to gretë god I hetë,
The lyf shal rather out of my body stertë

335
Than Makometës lawe out of myn hertë!

What shulde vs tyden of this newë lawë
But thraldom to our bodies and penancë?
And afterward in hellë to be drawë
For we reneyëd Mahoun oure creancë?
But, lordës, wol ye maken assurancë,
As I shal seyn, assentyng to my lorë,
And I shal make vs sauf for euermorë?'

They sworen and assenten, euery man,

To lyue with hir and dye, and by hir stondë;

And euerich, in the bestë wise he can,

To strengthen hir shal alle hise frendës fondë;

And she hath this emprise ytake on hondë,

Which ye shal heren that I shal deuysë,

And to hem alle she spak right in this wysë.

Cold water shal not greue vs but a litë;

And I shal swich a feste and reuel makë,

That, as I trowe, I shal the sowdan quitë.

For though his wyf be cristned neuer so whitë,

She shal haue nede to wasshe awey the redë,

Though she a font-ful water with hir ledë.'

O sowdanesse, roote of iniquitee,
Virago, thou Semyrame the secoundë,
O serpent vnder femynynytee,
360
Lik to the serpent depe in helle yboundë,
O feyned womman, al that may confoundë
Vertu and Innocence, thurgh thy malicë,
Is bred in thee, as nest of euery vicë!

O Satan, enuious syn thilkë day

That thou were chasëd fro oure heritagë,
Wel knowëstow to wommen the oldë way!
Thou madest Eua brynge vs in seruagë.
Thou wolt fordoon this cristen mariagë.
Thy instrument so, weylawey the whilë!

Makestow of wommen, whan thou wolt begilë.

This sowdanesse, whom I thus blame and waryë,
Let priuely hir conseil goon hire way.
What shulde I in this talë lenger taryë?
She rydeth to the sowdan on a day,
And seyde him, that she wolde reneye hir lay,
And cristendom of preestës handës fongë,
Repentyng hir she hethen was so longë,

Bisechyng him to doon hir that honour,
That she moste han the cristen men to festë;
'To plesen hem I wol do my labour.'
The sowdan seith, 'I wol doon at youre hestë,'
And knelyng thanketh hir of that requestë.
So glad he was, he nystë what to seyë;
She kiste hir sone, and hom she goth hir weyë.

Arryuëd ben this cristen folk to londë, In Surrye with a gret solempnë routë, And hastily this sowdan sente his sondë, First to his mooder, and al the regne aboutë, And seyde, his wyf was comen, out of doutë, And preyde hir for to ryde agayn the queenë, The honour of his regnë to susteenë.

Gret was the prees, and richë was tharray

Thurghout the see of Grece vn-to the straytë
Of Marrok, as it was hir auenturë;
On many a sory meel now may she baytë;
Aftir hir deeth ful often may she waytë,
Er that the wildë wawës woll hir dryuë
Vn-to the placë 2, ther she shal arryuë.

Men myghten asken why she was not slayn?

Eek at the feste who myghte hir body sauë?

And I answere to that demaunde agayn,

Who sauëd danyel in the horrible cauë,

Ther euery wyght saue he, maister and knauë,

No wyght but god, that he bar in his hertë.

By certein menës ofte, as knowen clerkës,
Dooth thing for certein endë that ful derk is

Who bad the fourë spirites of tempest,
That power han tanoyen lond and see,
'Bothe north and south, and also west and est,

Sothly the comaundour of that was he
That fro the tempest ay this womman keptë

She dryueth forth in-to oure occean

Thurgh-out oure wildë see, til, attë lastë,

Vnder an hold that nempnen I ne can,

And in the sond hir ship stikëd so fastë,

That thennës wolde it noght of al a tydë,

The constable of the castel doun is farë

To seen this wrak, and al the ship he soughtë

And fond this wery womman ful of carë;

He fond also the tresor that she broughtë.

In hir langagë mercy she bisoughtë

The lyf out of hir body for to twynnë,

Hir to deliuere of wo that she was innë.

But algates ther-by was she vnderstondë;

She kneleth doun, and thanketh goddës sondë.
But what she was she woldë no man seyë,
For foul ne fair, thogh that she shuldë deyë.

520

She seyde, she was so masëd in the see

That she forgat hir myndë, by hir trouthë;

The constable hath of hir so gret pitee,

And eek his wyf, that they wepen for routhë,

She was so diligent, with-outen, slouthë,

To serue and plese euerich in that placë

Til Ihesu hath conuerted thurgh his gracë
Dame Hermengyld, constablesse of that placë.

In al that lond no cristen durstë routë,

Alle cristen folk ben fled fro that contree

Thurgh payens, that conquereden al aboutë

'In name of Crist,' cryede this blynde 1 Britoun,

Lest that hir housbonde, shortly for to sayn,
Wolde hir for Ihesu cristës loue han slayn,
Til Custance made hir bold, and bad hir werchë
The wil of Crist, as doughter of his chirchë.

And seyde, 'what amounteth al this fare?'
Custance answerde, 'sire, it is Cristes might

And so ferforth she gan oure lay declare,

Of which I speke, ther he Custance fond,
But kepte it strongly, many wintres space,

Agayn the Scottes, as men may wel here, 580

That verraily him thoughte he shuldë spillë
But he of hir mighte onës haue his willë.

He woweth hir, but it auailleth nought,

And, for despit, he compassed in his thought

To maken hir on shameful deth to deyë.

For which ful ofte he wepte 1 and wrong his hond,
And in the bed the blody knyf he fond
By dame Custance; allas! what myghte she seyë?
For verray wo hir wit was al aweyë.

To kyng Alla was told al this meschancë,

And eek the tyme, and wher, and in what wisë

That in a ship was founden dame Custancë,

Berth 2 hir on hond that she hath doon this thing.

And both his yën braste out of his facë

In sight of euery body in that placë.

A voys was herd in general audiencë,
And seyde, 'thou hast disclaundered giltëlees
The doughter of holy chirche in heigh presencë; 675
Thus hastou doon, and yet holde I my pees.'
Of this meruaille agast was al the prees;
As masëd folk they stoden euerichone,
For drede of wrechë, saue Custance allone.

Gret was the drede and eek the repentancë

Of hem that hadden wrong suspeccioun

Vpon this sely innocent Custancë;

And, for this miracle, in conclusioun,

And by Custances mediacioun,

The kyng and many another in that placë

Conuerted was, thanked be cristës gracë!

This false knyght was slayn for his vntrouthe By Iugement of Alla hastily; And yet Custance hadde of his deth gret routhe. And after this Ihesus, of his mercy, Made Alla wedden ful solempnely This holy mayden, that is so bright and sheene, And thus hath Crist ymaad Custance a queene.

The throstle pipes his challenge loud,
Naught recks he now of winter's shroud,
Since earth is green with spring:
Aloft he sits on budding spray;
In joyous tone he trills his lay,
Till loud the woodlands ring.'

- 9. Bare, boar. This passage bears a remarkable resemblance to a 'Poem on Thomas a-Beket's Prophecies,' edited by Mr. Lumby for the Early English Text Society in 1870, in which we read (l. 50)—
  - 'A Bayre sall come out of Berttane wytht so brode tuskis,' &c.

XII. THE ROMANCE OF WILLIAM OF PALERNE.

Lines 3-35. These thirty-three lines are represented in the French text by only seven short lines, which run thus:—

'Uns vachiers qui vaches gardoit, qui en cele forest manoit, el bois estoit avoec sa proie, .i. chien tenoit en sa coroie, de pasture la nuit repaire; li chiens senti lenfant et flaire, forment abaie, et cil le hue,' &c.

Hence it is clear that the excellent lines, 20-31, are original; and they shew that our own author was a man of very considerable poetical power. So again, in 1. 59—

- 'appeles and alle þinges ' þat childern after wilnen,'— is entirely his own, and proves that he knew how to add a graceful touch to the poem he copied from.
  - 6. Ken = kin, cows, kine.
  - 11. Bayte on, to set on; as in bait a bull.

- 14 'Mending (patching) his shoes according to custom, as belongs their craft.'
- 17. Darked, was hiding (for fear). O. E. dare, to lie motionless. Him one, by himself.
- 19. To wawe was explained by Sir F. Madden as meaning to the wall; it it may be but one word. See To-wawe in the Glossary.
- 33. Feld foute, felt the smell, got scent. Foute = fewt, the trace of a r or beast of chase by the odour.
- 80. The letter l, like r, is one that sometimes shifts its place in a rd. As we find brid for bird, so we find wordle for worlde; and wolnk y be intentionally put for wlonk. So also carfti for crafti, 1. 3221.
- 33. No nei3 = non ei3, i. e. no egg. So thi narmes for thin armes, thy as, in 1. 666.
- 34. Grinneb. The MS. has ginneb. Sir F. Madden's note is—'A verb wanting after ginnetb. We may, probably, supply it by "so balfully ginneth greue," or by some similiar word' But this rather spoils the thm of the line. It is possible that ginneb = howl, utter, send out, m A. S. ginan, to open, yawn. Or it may be miswritten for grinneb, ich is not an inappropriate word, and is familiar to us from the exission in the Psalms—to grin like a dog, i. e. to grin with rage and ite. But it is still more to the point to observe that there is, as it re, some authority for the grinning of werwolves, if we compare with text the following quotation—' pai grennede for gladschipe euchan ward over, as wode wulues pet fainen of hare praie.' Morris, Early glish Homilies, p. 277 (E. E. T.S.) Cf. also 'The Lyon did both pe and gren;' Bp. Percy's Folio MS. Carle of Carlisle, 213.
- 121. Between this line and the next, the translator has missed a pora of the original. viz. the lines following:—

'de mult de gens estoit loee; de son signor avoit .i. fil, biau damoisel, franc et gentil; Brandins ot non, ce dist lescris.'

le was praised by many people. She had by her lord one son, a lad, frank and gentle; he bore the name of Brandins [or Braundins], says the writing. The name of Brandins being so very like Brande, translator may easily have lost his place, and omitted the passage ntentionally. Braundins is mentioned in the latter part of the mance.

- 136. A noynement = an oynement, i. e. an ointment, unguent. Cf. note l. 83. See l. 139.
- 141. 'All the form of man so amiss had she shaped (transformed).'
- 143-144. 'But truly he never after possessed any other resemblance that belongs to human nature, but (was) a wild werwolf.' The construction is involved.

156-160. Here the translator, finding a tendency to repetition in his original, cuts matters short, omitting how the werwolf lived two years in Apulia, and grew fierce and big and strong; and how, hearing of the treachery of King Embrouns' brother, he resolved to steal away William in the manner already described. It is needless to say that II. 161-169 are wholly interpolated.

206. There is something amiss with this line; it hardly makes sense as it stands. In 1. 35 the phrase is 'to hold to baie;' in 1. 46 it is 'to hold at a baye.' - So here, if one may be permitted to change '&' into 'at,' we have,

'to have bruttenet bat bor at be abaie sebben,'
i. e. 'to have afterwards destroyed the boar, (when held) at bay.'
216. burth = burgh, through.

251. In the original, William very properly grounds his refusal on the fact that he does not know who the emperor is, or what he wants to do.

'non ferai, sire, et por coi, car je ne sai que vos voles, qui vos estes, ne que queres; ne se voles riens, se bien non, ja ne me face Dix pardon!'

261. 'Read wend, and again elsewhere, in 1. 5185. This elision of a final d in such words as bond, lond, sheld, held, &c. is by no means uncommon in ancient poetry, and arises simply from pronunciation.'— Madden. We find wend in 1. 229.

267-272. Hereabouts the translator condenses his original with great judgment. The 'churl's' grumbling, as there given, is not very interesting.

278. To ne3b bim so bende, to approach him so nearly.

293-295. The French merely says,

'en ceste forest le trouvai, asses pres dont nous somes ore.'

The man who could turn this prosaic statement into

'how he him fond in bat forest 'bere fast bi-side, clothed in comly cloping for (i.e. fit for) any kinges sone, under an bolw ok 'burth belp of his dogge' had certainly both poetic power and a lively imagination. Indeed, the translation is very superior to the original. It should be observed that, immediately after writing the two lines printed above in italics, the translator boldly omits about sixteen lines of the cowherd's rather prosystory.

325. Fordedes, fore-deeds, previous actions. The word occurs again the Romance, 1. 5182.

329-343. The translator here follows the original pretty closely, ving, however, rather the sense than the exact words.

347. 'This is not an error of the scribe, but formed by the same alogy as alizt for alighted, comfort for comforted, gerde for girded, &c. occurs often in the Wycliffite versions of the Bible.'—Madden. The ry word comaund (=commanded) occurs in 11. 2557 and 2564 of the literative Romance on the Destruction of Troy.

360-365. Compare the original text-

- 'Salues moi Heut le nain,
  - et Hugenet et Aubelot,
  - et Martinet le fil Heugot,
  - et Akarin et Crestien,
  - et Thumassin le fil Paien,
  - et tos mes autres compaignons,' &c.
- 362. Dwerth, dwarf, is simply the translation of le nain, Lat. nanus; id just as dwerh is written for A. S. dwerg, so our author continually rites burb for bur3, through.
- 364. Kyn = kynd, kind.
- 365. For kinnesman, we may perhaps read Thomasin or Thomasyn. It ould improve the alliteration, of which there is none in the line as it ands.

XIII. ALLITERATIVE POEMS.

The Deluge.

N.B. In the West-Midland dialect, the 2nd and 3rd person sing. lic. end in -es, and the plural commonly ends in -en. The imperative ral ends in -es.

Line 235. The context shews that pat oper wrake means the second vennce of God. Lucifer committed three faults: the first was when he at1pted to make himself equal with God—for this, he fell from heaven;
1 second was when he tempted man—in this case, the second vengeance
1 ted upon man, as here said; the third (for which see 1. 249) was 1 en the sons of God beheld the daughters of men, Gen. vi. 2; where1 m the third vengeance, the Deluge, came upon all men then alive,
1 ept Noah and his family.

236. Faut, fault. Fr. faute.

Trawje, truth, true obedience.

- 238.  $Wat_3$ . Here, the symbol written  $t_3$ , is probably equivalent to cz, where c has the soft French sound of s. This answers to the German sz, which is merely a double s. In Scottish MSS, we often find wass written for was, where the ss is made like a German sz. Hence fiz = fiss or fis, the O. Fr. for Lat. filius; in which the t is now sounded, but only from ignorance. In fact,  $wat_3 = wacz = wass = was$ . We may sound it like z. In many MSS, the letters t and c are confused.
- 240. For-gart, lost. It literally signifies for-did, ruined; from 0. E. gar, ger, to do, cause, make.

Strictly, forme-foster should be forme-fosterz, being in apposition with aunceterez, but the position of the word affects its ending.

  - 318. Vpon, upon it, thereupon; or else, open. See 1. 501.

- 353. Seyed, passed; from O. E. sweye, to go, turn, sway (see 1. 420 and 956).
- 354. Rowtande ryge, a rushing shower. Rowtande may signify roaring, from O. E. route, to roar, howl; Icel. brjota, to grunt, snore. The rendering rushing, connects rowtande with rout, a gang, Germ. rotte, which seems different from rout, a discomfiture, which is the Fr. route, from Lat. rupta, a division.

Ryge, shower. A. S. reb, deluge, which seems to be connected with A. S. regen, Goth. rign; whence (by loss of g) E. rain.

357-360. 'Except you eight in this ark stowed (placed),

And seed that I will save of these various beasts.

Now Noah never ceases (that night he begins)

Ere all were stowed and enclosed, as the command required.'

XIV. SIR JOHN MANDEVILLE.

The MSS. of this are very numerous; there are at least nineteen in the British Museum, and there are three in the Cambridge University Library. For a list of the former set and an account of several early editions, see Mr. Halliwell's preface. MSS. of Mandeville are often found in company with MSS. of Piers the Plowman. There is a modernised version of Mandeville, edited by Mr. Wright, in 'Early Travels in Palestine,' Bohn's Antiquarian Library, London, 1848. The knight is said to have spent thirty-four years in travel, in Tartary, Persia, Armenia, Lybia, Ethiopia, India, Palestine, &c. His book may be compared with Colonel Yule's new edition of Marco Polo. The date of the work is not quite certain; for, whilst in the Cotton MS. it is said to be 1356, in MS. Bibl. Reg. 17 C. xxxviii. it is 1366.

- 9. Enoumbre bim, hide himself; from the O.F. 'enombrer, obscurcir, cacher;' Burguy.
- 20. Myddes of alle, &c. Jerusalem was supposed to be the exact centre of the earth, which was imagined to be a flat plane, or else a sort of hemisphere, of which Jerusalem was the highest point. But it is most remarkable that Mandeville himself argues that the earth is globular (cap. xvii.) and that it is possible to travel completely round it. The proof of Jerusalem being the centre of the earth was derived from Psalm lxxiv. 12; 'For God is my king of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth.' Cf. Josephus, Wars of the Jews, iii. 3. 5.
  - 21. The philosophre; Aristotle, Nicom. Eth. ii. 6.

Inde the lasse is Northern India; Inde the more, or greater, is Southern India. The names of these countries vary in the MSS.

XV. WILLIAM LANGLAND, OR LANGLEY.

The portion of 'Piers the Plowman' here printed may be advantageously compared with that printed in the edition published in the Clarendon Press Series. There are many resemblances, and many differences. The differences of spelling in lines otherwise alike are due to the pieces being printed from different MSS. It has been explained that there are three quite different versions of the poem. The portions of the A-text, here printed, are from the Vernon MS. in the Bodleian Library, with a few improvements from other MSS. This MS. makes the dialect more remarkable for Southern forms than it should be; this is due to the scribe of that MS. being a southern man, as evidenced in all the numerous pieces he has written out. The true dialect of the author appears more plainly in the B-text MS. (Laud 581), and is more uniformly Midland. The differences of the texts are these:—(1) The A-text contains two distinct poems, viz. a Prologue and eight Passus of 'Piers the Plowman,' and a Prologue and three Passus of 'Vita de Dowel, Dobet, et Dobest.' (2) The B-text contains a Prologue and seven Passus of 'Piers the Plowman,' a Prologue and six Passus of 'Dowel,' a Prologue and three Passus of 'Dobet,' and a Prologue and one Passus of 'Dobest'; of these, the Clarendon Press edition contains only the first portion, or 'Piers the Plowman,' properly so called. (3) The C-text contains a Prologue and nine Passus of Piers, a Prologue and six Passus of Dowel, a Prologue and three Passus of Dobet, and a Prologue and one Passus of Dobest. The Early English Text Society will publish all three texts in full, and has already published the two first

But we shall here consider only the portion of the A-text here printed, and the portion of the B-text printed by the Clarendon Press, some of the notes to which we here quote, and refer the reader to the same volume for further information.

Prologus.

Line 1. Softe, mild, warm; in the month of May.

2. 'I put myself into (rough) clothing, as if I were a shepherd.' Schop, shaped; cf. l. 52.

Scheep, a shepherd; a rare word, but there are a few examples. In MSS. of the C-text, the word is actually written shepherd, at length.

- 3. The shepherd's dress resembled a hermit's; the epithet unboly seems to express the author's opinion of hermits, especially of those who roamed about, instead of staying in their cells. Cf. 1. 28.
  - 5. Maluerne bulles, Malvern hills, in Worcestershire.
  - 6. 'There befel to me a wonder, of fairy (origin), it seemed to me.'
- 7. Wente me. The exact use of me here is uncertain; it can either mean turned myself, the original meaning of wende being to turn; or else, went to rest myself; or perhaps me is an ethic dative, meaning as far as relates to myself. Of the first usage there is an example in Cædmon, ed. Thorpe, p. 56, 'Wend be from wynne,' turn thyself from joy; also in the Ancren Riwle, ed. Morton, p. 53, 'wend te awei,' turn thyself away.
  - 11. 'Then did I dream a marvellous dream.'
  - 12. 'And as I looked eastward, on high, towards the sun.'

- 36. 'Found out fancies for themselves, and made fools of themselves, and (yet) have they wit at their command, to work if it pleased them.'
  - 38. The text of Paul alluded to is, 'Qui non laborat non manducet,'

- (2 Thess. iii. 10); but the poet dares not quote it, because every speaker of evil against another is a servant of Lucifer.
  - 41. Heor = beore, their.

Balies, bellies.

Bratful Icrommet, crammed brimful.

- 42. Atte alle = atten ale = at ben ale, at the ale; over their cups. Ale, an ale-house, as in Launce's speech in Two Gentlemen of Verona, ii. 5, 'go to the ale with a Christian.'

- 78. Sometimes the boy, i. e. young pardoner and the parish priest, instead of quarrelling, agreed to fleece the people, and divide the spoil.
- 81. The pestilence bere referred to is probably the first of the three which occurred in 1348 and 1349. See note to Pass. v. l. 13. The evil occasioned by parish-priests, who neglected their parishes to go to London is alluded to by Chaucer; see the description of the Persone in his Prologue. After l. 83 the B-text inserts no less than 123 extra lines, which were added in the year 1377.
  - 89. Mom = mum, the last sound made by closed lips.
- 103. Dieu vous sauve, dame Emme (God save you, lady Emma!) is evidently the refrain of some popular ballad.

For further information about the meanings of words, see Jamieson's Dictionary.   - 177. 'Saw that it became him of necessity to sleep.'
- 178. Valk, awake; used transitively. The intransitive form is walkyn, whence valknyt in 1. 210. The introduction of the letter n renders a verb intransitive in Mœso-Gothic, Swedish, &c. Thus we have Sw. vaka, to watch, vakna, to awake.

  - 471. Draf, drove, fell.

XVII. (A) JOHN WYCLIF.

- Cap. i. Verse 16. Sendynge, an exact translation of the Lat. mittentes. It must be remembered that Wyclif follows closely the peculiarities of the Latin (Vulgate) version, from which he translated. Some of his expressions can only be wholly understood by examining the Vulgate. Thus, in the next verse, the phrase be nettis forsaken is an imitation of the Lat. abl. absolute, relictis retibus; and so on.

XVIII. JOHN OF TREVISA.

(A) Description of Britain.

The following is an extract from Mr. Babington's preface to Higden, vol. ii. p. viii.

'The natural productions of the island are enumerated in the 41st chapter. It is to be regretted that Higden, instead of stating facts which must have come within his own knowledge, should have done little else but remand us to the classical authors Pliny and Solinus, and to earlier medieval writers, as Isidore, Bede, William of Malmesbury, Alfred of Beverley, and Henry of Huntingdon. There is little or nothing in their accounts of the animals, plants, or minerals of England to call for remarks here. Higden himself remarks principally on the richness of our ores, marbles, and other minerals; of our exports of wool to Flanders, of iron and lead to Gascony, of salt to Ireland.

and of white metal (so Trevisa translates aera nivea) to all Europe. An enumeration of some of the marvels of England follow, which may be passed over lightly. They are principally derived from Alfred of Beverley, Giraldus Cambrensis, and William of Malmesbury. Among the marvels are recounted various petrifying springs and windy caverns, while others are of a magical or supernatural character in connection with lakes, mountains, and caves. In conclusion it is observed that in no country are there more bodies of saints preserved from corruption than in England, as instanced in St. Etheldreda, St. Edmund, St. Elphege, and St. Cuthbert.'

The English text of Trevisa in the 'Rolls' edition is from MS. H I in St. John's College, Cambridge. It is a fine MS., and a few readings are given from it here. Some others have been adopted from MS. Harl. 1900, as pointed out in the footnotes. The Cotton MS. (here chiefly followed) is remarkable for many peculiarities which indicate a Southern dialect; it has been collated for the 'Rolls' edition, the various readings from it being there marked by the Greek letter y. Mr. Lumby (vol. iii. p. xxv.) has the following remarks upon it. 'In the personal pronouns the favourite forms for the first person singular are yeb, ich, and y; and for all genders of the third person singular, as well as for the third person plural, the not unusual form is a. [See 1. 30.] This is most common for the masculine, and least common for the neuter of the singular. The feminine likewise appears as beo, also the neuter by, and the plural by. The orthography is also peculiar; v is very frequently used instead of f, indicating the Southern character of the MS. but there occurs an equal number of instances of the contrary interchange 1. There is a marked preference also shown for forms with the vowel combinations eo, eu, uy, aa, ee, oo. The mark of the feminine form in nouns is as (as wolvas, a she-wolf, godas, a goddess), and a frequent form of the plural is on (as roberon, oxen). In the words live and bave, the v is always represented by bb, as lybbe, babbe; and y by gg, in ligge for lay, and sigge for say. Preterites and perfect participles have unusual forms, as leop, leapt, ful, fell. Now and then we find a word entirely differing from the reading in the text [i.e. from the St. John's MS.] and of a more antiquated character, as teer, clean, fulled, baptized, eldede, lived.

Line 1. Passeb, surpasses; Lat. 'vincit.' Throughout Extract A, Trevisa follows Higden closely.

&lt;sup>1</sup> There are no instances of f being put for v in the extracts here given.

- 10. Balenes, Lat. 'balaenae.' The words in parenthesis are not in the Latin.
  - 13. Margery-perles, pearls; Lat. 'margaritas.'
- 15. Carefully observe the use of me, which is equivalent in use to the French on, signifying men, people. Note also that wip would follow reed in modern English. The Latin is, 'quibus tinctura coccinei coloris efficitur.'
- 17. be elber, the older it is; Lat. 'quo vetustior, eo solet esse venustior.'
- 25. be bryft, the essence, the chief part; Lat. 'desiccante se pinguedinis nucleo.'
  - 30. Gagates, the agate; see Halliwell's Dictionary.
- 3ef me axeb, if people ask about; Lat. 'cujus si decorem requiras, nigro-gemmeus est.'
  - 33. Ybat, heated; repeated in 1. 35 in the form bat.
- 35. Lat. 'calefactus applicita detinet, aeque ut succinum.' Trevisa calls it 'succinis, a stone that is so named.' Succinum, or rather sucinum, means amber; and there is clearly the allusion to the electrical experiment of warming and rubbing amber to cause it to attract very small light articles.
- 48. Lat. 'velut altera Samia.' The words 'pat hatte Samos also,' i.e. that is also called Samos, were added by Trevisa.
  - 51. Wbyt metayl, Lat. 'aera nivea;' meaning tin.
- 54. A vercefyour, a versifier; not in English, but in Latin. The Latin has 'Unde quidam metricus in laudem ejus sic prorupit.
  - 'Henricus de Praerogativis Angliae. Versus.
  - 'Anglia terra ferax et fertilis angulus orbis, Anglia plena jocis, gens libera, digna jocari; Libera gens, cui libera mens et libera lingua, Sed lingua melior liberiorque manus.'

Next follow ten Leonine verses, hexameters, and pentameters alternately, beginning—'Anglia, terrarum decus et flos finitimarum'—and ending (in Trevisa) at the word 3xftes (l. 69). After these six more lines, by one Alfridus, beginning—

'Illa quidem longe celebri splendore beata.'

Trevisa begins by translating these into prose; but at 1. 61 evidently begins to aim at poetry. His lines are very irregular, but may be thus arranged—

'Strange men that needeth
That land well oft relieveth;
When hunger grieveth,
That land all such men feedeth.

That land is good enough; Wonder-much fruit beareth, and corn. That land is well at ease, As long as men live in peace. East and West all land Knoweth havens right well of Egland. Here ships fondes [approach, seek to come], And oft help many 'londes.' Their meat, their 'monay' Men have more common alway. For here that 'creftes' Men will gladly give gifts. In land and in strand Well wide men speak of England. Land, honey, milk, cheese! This island shall bear the prize.

As of lands aright, this island hath need of none; All lands must seek help, needs, of this alone.

Of liking [pleasure] there the 'woon' [abundance] Wonder at might Solomon; Riches, that there is in, Yearn would Octavian.'

The word creftes, of a craft or trade, is used here in a very singular manner in place of the Latin de more; as the original has 'Nam de more viri sunt ibi magnifici. In 1. 72, neodes signifies of necessity, as usual.

- 76. Mayster; probably Maistresse (as in the John's MS.) was intended. The Latin is 'Quibus fontibus praesul est numen Minervae.'
- 81. Pectoun; Lat. 'Peccum.' The reference seems to be to the Peak in Derbyshire, as Henry of Huntingdon has the words 'in monte qui vocatur Pec;' Monum. Hist. Brit. p. 694. In fact, a short pass near Castleton is still called the Winnats or Wind-gates. Another wonder of the Peak is the chasm called the Eldon-hole.
- 88. Cherdhol. Henry of Huntingdon has Chederhole, i. e. Cheddar in Somerset; see Mr. Babington's note, vol. ii. p. ix. Mr. Lumby adds (vol. iii. p. xxvii.) 'it is worth while to observe that Ceadboldes wigh is mentioned (Cod. Dipl. 427, 1198) near Lambourne and Welford in Berkshire, and seems to approach more nearly to the name in the text. The name Chaddleworth exists still in that neighbourhood, and close by is the curious natural feature known as Wayland Smith's cave.'
- 96. Egle bys nest, eagle's nest. The genitive case-ending in A.S. was -es, as in modern Dutch and German; in Early English it was -es or -is. This ending was sometimes by careless scribes written apart from the word, so that we find sone is written for sones (Romans of Partenay, 1. 38). Conversely, the word bis was often spelt is (William of Palerne, 1. 8); and hence arose a curious confusion, by which, at the close of the fourteenth century, such substitutions as egle bys for egles became common. But besides this, the use of bis, after a proper name, sprang up independently, for the sake of convenience of expression, as is apparent from the later text of Layamon; in which case it is not to be regarded as a mistake, but as an intentional periphrasis. See Sir F. Madden's 'Glossarial Remarks' on Layamon, l. 1459; and an article in the Cambridge Philological Museum, vol. ii. p. 245. At a later period, the frequent use of bis suggested the use of ber after feminine nouns (names especially); but this is far less common, and seems to have been rather avoided than sought. Lastly, the error arose, and is still current, of looking upon bis as the real sign of the genitive case, and of supposing eagle's to be derived, not from the Old English egles, but from the awkward periphrasis egle bys. The plain answer to which absurd notion is to remember that we cannot thus account for such words as woman's, queen's, and the like; and that to suppose bis to be itself a contraction of be bis (as, by the same rule, it would be) is to offer an inexplicable explanation.

- 114. There are actually such phenomena as wind-caverns. 'From a blowing cave in the Alleghany Mountains a hundred feet in diameter, the current of air is so strong as to keep the weeds prostrate at the distance of sixty feet from its mouth. But the most extraordinary example is the great cavern of Ouybe, of unknown extent, in Central Asia.' Atlas of Physical Geography, by Petermann and Milner, p. 22.
- 123. Wynburney; Lat. monasterium Wynburnense. Clearly Wimborne, or Wimborne Minster, in Dorsetshire. But it must be at least fifty miles from Bath.
- 136. Pimbilmere; the English name for the Bala Lake, through which the river Dee runs. The sources of the river are in the Berwyn mountains.
- 143. Etheldred; Lat. Etheldreda. The day of St. Etheldreda, virgin and martyr, is June 23 in the Romish, but Oct. 17 in the English calendar. She founded a convent at Ely, and died as its abless A.D. 679. She was commonly called St. Audry, and from her name, as is well known, is derived the word tawdry, originally applied to fineries bought at St. Audry's fair at Ely. Compare Tooley Street, named from St. Olave. See Chambers' Book of Days, ii. 459.

The day of St. Edmund, king and martyr, is Nov. 20 or 22. He was shot to death with arrows by the Danes A.D. 870. By St. Elphege is meant Ælfheah, archbishop of Canterbury, martyred by the Danes A.D. 1012.—Freeman's Old Eng. History for Children, p. 219. His day is April 19; see under that date in Chambers' Book of Days. St. Cuthbert, bishop of Lindisfarne, died March 20, A.D. 687; Chambers' Book of Days, i. 395.

150. By comparing this chapter with the original, we find that Trevisa has added something of his own, viz. the passage beginning with 1. 175 down to the word Frensch in 1. 190. The whole chapter is of considerable importance, and has been frequently quoted from; for which reason Higden's Latin version is here subjoined.

'Ut patet ad sensum, quot in hac insula sunt gentes, tot gentium quot linguae; Scoti tamen et Wallani, utpote cum aliis nationibus impermixti, ad purum paene pristinum retinent idioma; nisi forsan Scoti, ex convictu Pictorum, cum quibus olim confoederati cohabitabant, quippiam contraxerint in sermone. Flandrenses vero, qui occidua Walliae incolunt, dimissa iam barbarie, Saxonice satis proloquuntur. Angli quoque, quamquam ab initio tripartitam sortirentur linguam, austrinum scilicet, mediterraneam, et borealem, veluti ex tribus Germaniae populis procedentes, ex commixtione tamen primo cum Danis, deinde cum Normannis, corrupta in multis patria lingua peregrinos iam captant boatus et garritus. Haec quidem nativae linguae corruptio provenit hodie multum ex duobus; quod videlicet pueri in scholis, contra morem caeterarum nationum, a primo Normannorum adventu, derelicto proprio vulgari, construere Gallice compelluntur; item quod filii nobilium ab ipsis cunabulorum crepundiis ad Gallicum idioma informantur. Quibus profecto rurales homines assimilari volentes, ut per hoc spectabiliores videantur, francigenare satagunt omni nisu. Ubi nempe mirandum videtur, quomodo nativa et propria Anglorum lingua, in unica insula coartata, pronuntiatione ipsa sit tam diversa; cum tamén Normannica lingua, quae adventitia est, univoca maneat penes cunctos. De praedicta quoque lingua Saxonica tripartita, quae in paucis adhuc agrestibus vix remansit, orientales cum occiduis, tanquam sub eodem coeli climate lineati, plus consonant in sermone quam boreales cum austrinis. Inde est quod Mercii sive Mediterranei Angli, tanquam participantes naturam extremorum, collaterales linguas arcticam et antarcticam melins intelligant quam adinvicem se intelligunt iam extremi. Northimbrorum, maxime in Eboraco, ita stridet incondita, quod nos australes eam vix intelligere possumus; quod puto propter viciniam barbarorum contigisse, et etiam propter iugem remotionem regum Anglorum ab illis partibus, qui magis ad austrum diversati, si quando boreales partes adeunt, non nisi magno auxiliatorum manu pergunt. Frequentioris autem morae in austrinis partibus quam in borealibus causa potest esse gleba feracior, plebs numerosior, urbes insigniores, portus accommodatiores.'

- 153. Bote 3ef, except it be that; a translation of nisi forsan.
- 175. Here begins Trevisa's addition. The furste moreyn is the first great plague, A.D. 1349. See note to Section XV, v. 13. Johan Cornwal was probably, like Trevisa, a native of the county of Cornwall; Pencrych certainly appears to be a Cornish name.
- 180. He gives the date 1385, which he also calls the ninth year of Richard's reign. This is correct, as this ninth year was from June 22, 1385, to June 21, 1386.
- 202. Party of beuene, i. e. degree of latitude; Lat. 'sub eodem coeli climate lineati.' In old astronomy, a clima or climate was a portion of the earth bounded by two given lines of latitude.

(B) The Norman Invasion.

Compare this passage with Section I. and the Notes to that section.

- 9. Nameliche, especially, in particular.
- 21. Robert, archbishop of Canterbury, was deprived of his bishopric in 1052, at the time when Earl Godwine was again received into favour by Edward the Confessor. He was succeeded by Stigand.
- 27. William Fitz-Osbern is the right name; see Freeman's Old Eng. Hist. for Children, p. 303.
- 48. A similar story is told of Cæsar when he landed in Africa; Freeman's Old Eng. Hist. p. 317.
- 50. One of the Peruvian princes is said to have made a similar remark, viz. 'We must spare our enemies, or it will be our loss, since they and all that belongs to them must soon be ours;' Prescott, Conquest of Peru, bk. i. c. 2.

XIX. GEOFFREY CHAUCER.

A story, agreeing closely with The Man of Lawes Tale, is found in Book II. of Gower's Confessio Amantis, from whom Tyrwhitt supposes that Chaucer borrowed it. He observes further that it resembles in many points The Lay of Emare, which is printed in the second volume of Ritson's Metrical Romances. The story also exists in French prose (by Nicholas Trivet) in MS. Arundel 56, in the British Museum. In some places Chaucer agrees with this French version tolerably closely, but he makes variations and additions at pleasure.

The first ninety eight lines of the preceding Prologue are written in couplets, in order to link the Tale to the others of the series; but there is nothing to shew which of the other tales it was intended to follow. Next follows a more special Prologue of thirty-five lines, in five stanzas of seven lines each; so that the first line in the Tale is 1. 134 of the second of the fragments into which the Canterbury Tales are broken up, owing to the incomplete state in which Chaucer left them.

In this extract, such final e's as may be considered to form a distinct syllable are marked by two dots above. In like manner-es and -ed are marked, when forming distinct syllables. There are, in general, sufficient reasons for the full pronunciation of these final syllables, but these cannot here be stated. The reader is referred to Morris's edition of Chaucer's Prologue and Knightes Tale (Clarendon Press Series), p. xliv. for general rules; and to Ellis's Early English Pronunciation for a full discussion of the subject. In the first stanza, for example, the word trewe is dissyllabic, being plural; bewe is so, because it is a dative case governed by the prep. of, which formerly governed a dative, though now associated with the idea of a possessive case; newe is so, because modified from the A. S. dissyllabic niwe. Chaffare is an infinitive mood, and infinitives are commonly marked by the termination -e or -en (A.S. -an). Ware is dissyllabic, being the A.S. waru. Sometimes an e is sounded in the middle of a word, as in wydewber (three syllables). Observe also clothès (A.S. cládas). In some French words, such as companye, the pronunciation of the e final is less certain, and seems to partake of poetic license; yet there is nothing very remarkable in the assumption, since the same word contains four syllables to this day, and is accented on the penultimate, both in Spanish and Italian; cf. Span. compañía and Ital. compagnia. Again, such words as grace, space, from the Latin gratiam, spatium, may fairly be allowed two syllables; especially when we find cause (Lat. causam) with two syllables; Cant. Tales, 4142, 5705. If, however, the final e be followed by a vowel, or (in some cases) by the letter b, it is elided, or, to speak more strictly, slurred over by rapid pronunciation. This is why the e is left unmarked in the words dwelte (134), riche, sadde (135), and riche again (137). Chaucer's lines, if read with attention, are beautifully melodious.

Line 134. Surrye, Syria; called Sarazine (Saracen-land) by N. Trivet. 145. The final e in Rome is pronounced, as in l. 142; but the words the ende are to be run together, forming but one syllable, thende, according to Chaucer's usual practice; cf. note to 1. 255. Indeed, in l. 423, it is actually so spelt; just as, in 1.150, we have thexcellent, and in 1.151, themperoures.

- 151. Themperoures, the emperor's. Gower calls him Tiberius Constantine, who was Emperor (not of Rome, but) of the East, A.D. 578, and was succeeded, as in the story, by Maurice, A.D. 582. His capital was Constantinople, whither merchants from Syria could easily repair; but the greater fame of Rome caused the substitution of the Western for the Eastern capital.
- 166. Mirour, mirror. Such French words are frequently accented on the last syllable.
- 185. Ceriously, with great minuteness of detail. It is the Low Latin seriose, used in two senses; (1) seriously, gravely; (2) minutely, fully. In the latter case it is perhaps to be referred to the Lat. series, not serius. A similar word, cereatly (Lat. seriatim) is found three times in the Romance of Partenay, ed. Skeat, with the sense of in due order.
- 190. This refers to the old belief in astrology and the casting of nativities.
- 197. Tyrwhitt shews that this stanza is imitated closely from some Latin lines, some of which are quoted in the margin of many MSS. of Chaucer. He quotes them at length from the Megacosmos of Bernardus Silvestris, a poet of the twelfth eentury. The names Ector (Hector), &c. are too well known to require comment. The death of Turnus is told at the end of Virgil's Æneid.
- 207, 208. Here baue seems to be used as the form of the auxiliary verb, whilst ban signifies possession. See ban again in 1. 241.
- 224. Maboun, Mahomet. The French version does not mention Mahomet. This is an anachronism on Chaucer's part; the Emperor Tiberius II. died A.D. 582, when Mahomet was but twelve years old.
- 228. I prey you bolde, I pray you to hold. Here bolde is the infinitive mood. The imperative plural would be boldetb; see sauetb in the next line.
- 236. Maumettrie, idolatry; from the O. E. maumet, an idol, corrupted from Mahomet. The confusion introduced by using the word Mahomet for an idol may partly account for the anachronism in 1. 224. The Mahometans were falsely supposed by our forefathers to be idolaters.
  - 242. Not, put for ne wot, know not.
- 248. An imperfect line. There are a few such lines in Chaucer, in which the cæsural pause seems to count for a syllable. Scan it thus:—

  That them | perfor || of | his gret | noblesse ||
- 255. Ynowe, being plural, may take a final e; we should then read th'ende, as explained in note to l. 145. The pl. inozhe occurs in the Ormulum.

- 263. Alle and some, collectively and individually. See Some in the Glossary.
  - 276. Ye. It was a mark of respect to use ye for thou.
- 295. In the margin of the Ellesmere MS. is written- Vnde Ptholomeus, libro i. cap. 8. Primi motus celi duo sunt, quorus vnus est qui mouet totum semper ab Oriente in Occidentem vno modo super orbes, Item aliter vero motus est qui mouet orbem stellarum currencium contra motum primum, videlicet, ab Occidente in Orientem super alios duos polos.' The old astronomy imagined nine spheres revolving round the central stationary earth; of the seven innermost, each carried with it one of the seven planets, viz. the Moon, Venus, Mercury, Sun, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn; the eighth sphere, that of the fixed stars, had a slow motion from west to east, to account for the precession of the equinoxes, whilst the ninth or outermost sphere, called the primum mobile, or the sphere of first motion, had a diurnal revolution from east to west, carrying everything with it. This exactly corresponds with Chaucer's language. He addresses the outermost sphere or primum mobile (which is the ninth if reckoning from within, but the first from without), and accuses it of carrying with it everything in its irresistible westward motion; a motion contrary to that of the 'natural' motion, viz. that in which the sun advances along the signs of the zodiac. The result was that the evil influence of the planet Mars prevented the marriage.
- 302. A planet is said to ascend directly, when in a direct sign; but tortuously when in a tortuous sign. The tortuous signs are those which ascend most obliquely to the horizon, viz. the signs from Capricornus to Gemini inclusive. The most 'tortuous' of these are the two middle ones, Pisces and Aries. Of these two, Aries is called the mansion of Mars, and we may therefore suppose Mars to have been in Aries, the lord of which (Mars) is said to fall 'from his angle into the darkest house.' The sign of Aries rises so obliquely that the whole of it appears above the horizon in less than an hour, and in less than four hours after ascending, the planet would, if near the first point of Aries, be removed by three whole signs from the horizon, and would be, as I suppose, in his darkest house.
- 305. The meaning of Atazir has never hitherto been discovered. But, by the kind help of Mr. Bensly, one of the sub-librarians of the Cambridge University Library, we are now enabled to explain it. In Spanish, the letter z (or c before i) is pronounced like th; hence atazir or atazir is the Spanish spelling of the Arabic attathir, influence, given at p. 13 of Freytag's Arabic Lexicon. It is a noun derived from athara, a verb of the second conjugation, meaning to leave a mark on, from the substantive dibar, a mark. Its use in astrology is commented upon by Dozy, who gives it in the form atacir, in his Glossaire des Mots Espagnols dérivés de l'Arabique, p. 207. It signifies the influence of a star or planet upon other stars, or upon the fortunes of men. In the present case it is clearly used in a bad sense; we may therefore translate it by 'evil influence.' On this common deterioration in the meaning of words, see Trench, Study of Words, p. 52. The word craft, for example, is a very similar instance; it originally meant skill, and hence, a trade, and we find star-craft used in particular to signify the science of astronomy.

- 307. 'Thou art in conjunction in an unfavourable position; from the position in which thou wast favourably placed thou art moved away.'
- 312. 'Is there no choice as to when to fix the voyage?' The favourable moment for commencing a voyage was one of the points on which it was considered desirable to have an astrologer's opinion. Travelling, at that time, was a serious matter.
- 314. Roote is the astrological term for the epoch from which to reckon. The exact moment of a nativity being known, the astrologers were supposed to be able to calculate everything else.
  - 332. Alkaron, the Koran; al is the Arabic article.
- 333. Here Makomete is used instead of Mahoun (l. 224). See Extract XIV (B).

Message, messenger. This is a correct form, according to the usages of early English. In like manner, we find prison used to mean a prisoner, which is often puzzling at first sight.

- 340. 'Because we denied Mahomet, our (object of) belief.'
- 367. Knowestow is probably a trisyllable; and the olde to be read tholde. But in 1. 371, the word Makestow, being differently placed in the line, is to be read with the e slurred over, almost a dissyllable.
  - 380. Moste, might. It is not always used like the modern must.
  - 401. See Lucan's Pharsalia.
- 404. There are undoubtedly a few lines in Chaucer, in which the first foot consists of one syllable only; this is one of them, the word But standing by itself as a foot. See Ellis's Early English Pronunciation, pp. 333, 649. This peculiarity was pointed out by Mr. Skeat in 1866, in the Aldine edition of Chaucer, i. 174.
- 421. Pronounce euer rapidly, and accent successour on the first syllable.
- 438. Compare Trivet's French prose version:—'Dount ele fist estorier vne neef de vitaile, de payn quest apele bisquit, & de peis, & de feues, de sucre, & de meel, & de vyn, pur sustenaunce de la vie de la pucele pur treis aunz; e en cele neef fit mettre la richesse & le tresour que lempire Tiberie auoit maunde oue la pucele Constaunce, sa fille; e en cele neef fist la soudane mettre la pucele saunz sigle, & sauntz neuiroun, & sauntz chescune maner de eide de homme.' I. e. 'Then she caused a ship to be stored with victuals, with bread that is called biscuit, with peas, beans, sugar, honey, and wine, to sustain the maiden's life for three years. And in this ship she caused to be placed the riches and treasure which the Emperor Tiberius had sent with the maid Constance his daughter; and in this ship the Sultaness caused the maiden to be put, without sail or oar, or any kind of human aid.'

Foot-bot, hastily. It occurs in Gower, in The Romaunt of the Rose, 1. 3827, and in Barbour's Bruce, iii. 418.

- 460. Hym and bere, him and her, i. e. man and woman; as in Sect. XV. Pass. i. l. 100.
  - 464. See of Grece, here put for the Mediterranean Sea.

Marrok, Morocco; alluding to the Strait of Gibraltar.

- 474. Ther, where; as usual.
- 475. 'Was eaten by the lion ere he could escape.'
- 491. See Revelation vii. 1-3.
- 497. Here As seems to form a foot by itself. See 1. 404.
- 500. Alluding to St. Mary the Egyptian (Maria Egiptiaca) who, according to the legend, after a youth spent in debauchery, lived entirely alone for the last forty-seven years of her life in the wilderness beyond the Jordan.
- 508. Northumberlond, the district, not the county. Yorkshire is, in fact, meant, as the French version expressly mentions the Humber.
  - 512. The constable; named Elda by Trivet and Gower.
- 519. Trivet says that she answered Elda in his own language, 'en sessoneys,' in Saxon, for she had learnt many languages in her youth.
- 525. The word deye seems to have had two pronunciations; in 1. 644 it is dye, with a different rime.
- 531. The final e in plese is preserved from elision by the cæsural pause. Or, we may read plesen; yet the MSS. have plese.
- 578. Alla, i. e. Ælla, king of Northumberland, A.D. 560-588; the same whose name Pope Gregory turned, by a pun, into Alleluia, according to some versions of the celebrated story about Gregory and the English slaves.
- 585. 'The plot of the knight against Constance, and also her subsequent adventure with the steward, are both to be found, with some variations, in a story in the Gesta Romanorum, ch. 101; MS Harl. 2270. Occleve has versified the whole story.' Tyrwhitt. Compare the conduct of Iachimo, in Cymbeline.
- 584. Quite ber while, repay her time; i.e. her occupation, action. Wile is not intended.

- 645. Perhaps seyn is pronounced seyen, a dissyllable.
- 660. 'For pite renneth sone in gentil herte;' Knightes Tale, l. 903. 664. Vs auyse, deliberate with ourselves, consider the matter again. Compare the law-phrase Le roi s'avisera, by which the king refuses assent to a measure proposed.
- 666. I.e. a copy of the Gospels in Welsh or British, called in the French prose version 'liure des Ewangeiles.' Agreements were sometimes written on the fly-leaves of copies of the Gospels, as may be seen in two copies of the A.S. version of them.
- 669. A very similar miracle is recorded in the old alliterative romance of Joseph of Arimathea. The French version has:—'a peine auoit fini la parole, qe vne mayn close, com poyn de homme, apparut deuant Elda et quant questoient en presence, et ferri tiel coup en le haterel le seloun, que ambedeus lez eus lui envolerent de la teste, & les dentz hors de la bouche; & le feloun chai abatu a la terre; et a ceo dist vne voiz en le oyance de touz: Aduersus filiam matris ecclesie ponebas scandalum; hec fecisti, et tacui.' I.e. 'Scarcely had he ended the word, when a closed hand, like a man's fist, appeared before Elda and all who were in the presence, and smote such a blow on the nape of the felon's neck that both his eyes flew out of his head, and the teeth out of his mouth; and the felon fell smitten down to the earth; and thereupon a voice said in the hearing of all, 'Against the daughter of Mother Church thou wast laying a scandal; this hast thou done, and I held my peace."
- 693. The story may conveniently be broken off here, with Constance's momentary happiness. After many further troubles, the son of Ælla and Constance, named Maurice, succeeds Tiberius as emperor of Rome. This is an allusion to the fact that a Maurice (who was, however, a Cappadocian) succeeded Tiberius II as emperor of the East, A.D. 582.

XX. JOHN GOWER.

The numbering of the lines in these extracts is arbitrary. The Fifth Book is of great length, and the extracts begin at some distance from the beginning of it.

'Chap. cix. [of the Gesta Romanorum contains the story of] the chest and the three pasties. A like story is found in Boccace's Decameron, x. 1., in the Cento Novelle Antiche, Nov. lxv., and in Gower's Confessio Amantis, lib. v. The story, however, as it stands in Gower, seems to be copied from one which is told by the hermit Barlaam to king Avenamore, in the spiritual Romance, written originally in Greek about the year 800, by Johannes Damascenus, a Greek monk, and translated into Latin before the thirteenth century, entitled Barlaam and Josaphat. But Gower's immediate author, if not Boccace, was perhaps Vincent of Beauvais, who wrote about the year 1290, and who has incorporated Damascenus's history of Barlaam and Josaphat, who were canonised, into his Speculum Historiale. Barlaam's fable is probably the remote but original source of Shakespeare's Caskets in the Merchant of Venice.' Warton, Hist. Eng. Poetry, i. claxiii. ed. 1840; i. 271, ed. 1871.

The final e commonly forms a distinct syllable, as in Chaucer, except when slurred over before a following vowel. Thus we have mostè, l. 2; oldè, l. 11; attè (for at the), l. 15; wistè, l. 22, and the like. So also bondès, l. 34; auancèment (four syllables) l. 7.

Lines 38, 39. Mull, mould, dust; meined, mingled; felde, filled.

44. A bord vpset, a table set up (upon trestles).

139. 'Above her clothes she wore a girdle.'

145. Compare 'Thrice to thine, and thrice to mine,

And thrice again, to make up nine.' Macbeth, i. 3.

149. A drechinge onde, a labouring, heavily-drawn breath.

155. Echates, i. e. Hecate, as in Macbeth, iv. 1.

168. po parties, those parts. Thessaly is meant; see l. 192.

171. Othrys and Olympus, mountain-ranges of Thessaly.

- 179. Amphrysus, Peneus, and Spercheus, are rivers of Thessaly; the fourth river, Eridanus, is probably meant for a river of Thessaly also, though by most Latin writers identified with the Padus or Po.
- 211. Iuuente, i.e. Juventas, the Latin name of Hebe, the goddess of youth.
  - 241. Spelling of bir charmes, recital of her charms.
- 303. Chelidre, Lat. chelydrus (Virgil), Gk. χέλυδρος, an amphibious and venomous serpent.
  - 311. Cf. 'Scale of dragon, tooth of wolf,
    Witches' mummy, maw and gulf
    Of the ravin'd salt-sea shark,' &c. Macbeth, iv. 1.

XII. A SERIES OF ENGLISH CLASSICS.

Designed to meet the wants of Students in English Literature: under the superintendence of the Rev. J. S. Brewer, M.A., of Queen's College, Oxford, and Professor of English Literature at King's College, London.

THERE are two dangers to which the student of English Literature is exposed at the outset of his task;—his reading is apt to be too narrow or too diffuse.

Out of the vast number of authors set before him in books professing to deal with this subject he knows not which to select:

he thinks he must read a little of all; he soon abandons so hopeless an attempt; he ends by contenting himself with second-hand information; and professing to study English Literature, he fails to master a single English author. On the other hand, by confining his attention to one or two writers, or to one special period of English Literature, the student narrows his view of it; he fails to grasp the subject as a whole; and in so doing misses one of the chief objects of his study.

How may these errors be avoided? How may minute reading be combined with comprehensiveness of view?

In the hope of furnishing an answer to these questions the Delegates of the Press, acting upon the advice and experience of Professor Brewer, have determined to issue a series of small volumes, which shall embrace, in a convenient form and at a low price, the general extent of English Literature, as represented in its masterpieces at successive epochs. It is thought that the student, by confining himself, in the first instance, to those authors who are most worthy of his attention, will be saved from the dangers of hasty and indiscriminate reading. By adopting the course thus marked out for him, he will become familiar with the productions of the greatest minds in English Literature; and should he never be able to pursue the subject beyond the limits here prescribed, he will have laid the foundation of accurate habits of thought and judgment, which cannot fail of being serviceable to him hereafter.

The authors and works selected are such as will best serve to illustrate English Literature in its bistorical aspect. As 'the eye of history,' without which history cannot be understood, the literature of a nation is the clearest and most intelligible record of its life. Its thoughts and its emotions, its graver and its less serious modes, its progress, or its degeneracy, are told by its best authors in their best words. This view of the subject will suggest the safest rules for the study of it.

With one exception all writers before the Reformation are excluded from the Series. However great may be the value of literature before that epoch, it is not completely national. For it had no common organ of language; it addressed itself to special classes; it dealt mainly with special subjects. Again; of writers who flourished after the Reformation, who were popular in their day, and reflected the manners and sentiments of their age, the larger part by far must be excluded from our list. Common sense tells us that if young persons, who have but a limited time at their disposal, read Marlowe or Greene, Burton, Hakewill or Du Bartas, Shakespeare, Bacon, and Milton will be comparatively neglected.

Keeping, then, to the best authors in each epoch—and here popular estimation is a safe guide—the student will find the following list of writers amply sufficient for his purpose: Chaucer, Spenser, Hooker, Shakespeare, Bacon, Milton, Dryden, Bunyan, Pope, Johnson, Burke, and Cowper. In other words, Chaucer is the exponent of the Middle Ages in England; Spenser of the Reformation and the Tudors; Hooker of the latter years of Elizabeth; Shakespeare and Bacon of the transition from Tudor to Stuart; Milton of Charles I and the Commonwealth; Dryden and Bunyan of the Restoration; Pope of Anne and the House of Hanover; Johnson, Burke, and Cowper of the reign of George III to the close of the last century.

The list could be easily enlarged; the names of Jeremy Taylor, Clarendon, Hobbes, Locke, Swift, Addison, Goldsmith, and others are omitted. But in so wide a field, the difficulty is to keep the series from becoming unwieldy, without diminishing its comprehensiveness. Hereafter, should the plan prove to be useful, some of the masterpieces of the authors in mentioned may be added to the list.

The task of selection is not yet finished. For purposes of education, it would neither be possible, nor, if possible, desirable, to place in the hands of students the whole of the works of the authors we have chosen. We must set before them only the masterpieces of literature, and their studies must be directed, not only to the greatest minds, but to their choicest productions. These are to be read again and again, separately and in combination. Their purport, form, language, bearing on the times, must be minutely studied, till the student begins to recognise the full value of each work both in itself and in its relations to those that go before and those that follow it.

It is especially hoped that this Series may prove useful to Ladies' Schools and Middle Class Schools; in which English Literature must always be a leading subject of instruction.
